Roosevelt Asks Landon And Knox To Conference

Neutrality Program To Be Discussed At White House Parley

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18—(AP)—President Roosevelt has invited former Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas and Frank Knox of Chicago—the titular heads of the republican party—to a white house parley Wednesday at which leaders of the nation will consider America's neutrality program.

Stephen T. Early, a presidential secretary, said Mr. Roosevelt had talked with Landon and Knox by telephone last night and said they had accepted the invitation without hesitation. Early described the president as being "very happy in their acceptance."

Early said Rep. Mapes (R.-Mich.), ranking minority member of the house rules and interstate commerce committee, also had been asked to the meeting and that the list of those attending probably was complete.

Seeks Exchange of Views.

The president arranged for the conference, a day before congress meets in special session to consider the neutrality issue, in order to get an exchange of views among bi-partisan leaders in the national legislature. The addition of Landon and Knox, which went outside of congress, was understood to be in the nature of further attempting to bury partisanship and politics during the present crisis.

Early said the president told him today that "this is no time to call any of those who will take part in Wednesday's meeting, either republicans or democrats."

Early spoke of them as national leaders rather than political leaders and said that underlying the conference was a portion of Mr. Roosevelt's address to the nation by radio a week ago in which he

Landon Wants U. S. To Stay Out Of War

TOPEKA, Sept. 18—(AP)—Former Gov. Alf M. Landon will leave for Washington tonight, "glad" of the opportunity to confer with President Roosevelt "in this serious situation."

Landon said he might meet Col. Frank Knox, the 1936 G. O. P. vice-presidential nominee, also invited to the Wednesday parley, in Chicago.

Two weeks ago at the outbreak of war in Europe, Landon declared the United States must stay out.

"Our sympathies naturally are against Hitler and with the democracies," he said at that time. "Our emotions will be aroused and we will become indignant but we must not be drawn into a war by slow degrees like we were the last time."

For National Cabinet.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18—(AP)—Col. Frank Knox, invited with other national leaders to a white house conference on neutrality Wednesday, stands for a "national government" to keep the United States out of war.

His newspaper, the Chicago Daily News, has demanded editorially that the neutrality act be repealed.

He urged that the president set up a "national cabinet" formed of leaders of the new deal, the conservative branch of the democratic party and the republicans to formulate a neutrality act which would definitely keep this country at peace.

E. B. Johnson Dies As Result Rail Accident

Switchman Lost Both His Legs, One Arm After Falling Under Train

Edward B. Johnson, 40, of Lincoln, switchman for the Rock Island railroad, died in a Colorado Springs hospital shortly before noon Monday from injuries suffered in a railroad accident. Death folowed amputation of both legs and an arm, made necessary by the character of his injuries.

He was injured critically Sunday morning when he fell beneath a locomotive in the Colorado Springs railroad yards, slipping from a foot board.

Mrs. Johnson and their two sons left Sunday for Colorado Springs, and complete details of the accident were not available in Lincoln.

Mr. Johnson, who had been employed by the Burlington and the Rock Island railroads most of the past 15 or 20 years, went to Colorado Springs about two months ago to take his job switching in the yards there. He formerly lived at 2025 South Sixteenth street, and lately had been living in an apartment near Nineteenth and O street.

Assignments Of Methodist Ministers Read

Special Appointments Include Cutshall As Missionary Secretary; Hunter Is Renamed

With the reading of special appointments and the assignment of pastors, the annual Nebraska conference of the Methodist church at Trinity church came to a close Monday afternoon after a busy last day business session.

In closing their session the conference elected four ministerial alternates in addition to the 13 delegates to the general and jurisdictional conferences. The four named were Rev. John W. Ekwall of Madison, Rev. Arthur A. Brooke of Omaha, Rev. Floyd L. Blewfield of Lincoln, and Rev. A. K. Williams of Omaha.

Dr. Schwartz Recognized.

In the special assignments, Dr. E. Guy Cutshall, former chancellor of Nebraska Wesleyan university, was assigned as conference missionary secretary and Dr. E. C. McDade, district superintendent of Beatrice, was officially named as financial secretary of Bryan Memorial hospital. Chancellor Benjamin F. Schwartz of Nebraska Wesleyan was officially recognized by the conference.

Robert E. Drew was renamed for the fifth year to be the university pastor; A. V. Hunter was renamed for the seventh time as personnel director at Nebraska Wesleyan; and Floyd Shacklock for the 20th year as missionary to Japan.

Other special appointments are: Antonio Ayala, Lincoln, mis-

Greater Freedom In British War News Is Ordered

LONDON, Sept. 18—(AP)—The ministry of information announced today the war cabinet had authorized greater freedom in the reporting of war news and that press comment was to be given more latitude. The world press will be represented temporarily at the western front, until other correspondents are authorized, by one man, A. G. Clifford, Reuter (British news agency) correspondent, who worked formerly in Berlin and Spain.

Lord Camrose, publisher of the Daily Telegram, has been named chief assistant to Lord MacMillan, minister of information.

GENE BUCK IS ON STAND IN ASCAP TRIAL

Music Royalty Group Is Seeking To Nullify the State Law; Trend Of Music World Shown

The woes of Tin Pan Alley were spread on the records of Federal court in Lincoln Monday, as the suit by the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers to have a 1937 state law declared unconstitutional opened before three judges.

Gene Buck, veteran song writer, associate of Victor Herbert and Florenz Ziegfield, and for 16 years president of ASCAP, testified as to the organization of the society, and its fights with cabarets, movie houses, radio, and dance halls.

The testimony indicated that the suit is a battlefield between the composers and the users of songs, principally broadcasters, more than it is a test of the right of the legislature to outlaw associations of authors to collect royalties.

Since the action involves constitutionality of a state law, it is being heard before District Judge Munger and Donohoe and Circuit Judge Archibald K. Gardner, of Huron, S. D.

Make Stipulations.

The 15 lawyers and interested parties left the court room, which is crowded with files and exhibits, to hold a conference with the court in chambers. There it was determined beforehand that jurisdictional matters could be stipulated, and the crucial question would be whether or not ASCAP is an organization within the definition of the law in question, whether it is a monopoly, and if so whether or not the law outlawing it is constitutional.

Questioned by Louis Frolich, New York attorney, Buck told of the conference in 1914, led by Victor Herbert, at which ASCAP was formed.

"Before 1914, no author ever collected a cent from any phonograph record manufacturer, cabaret singer, dance band, or other user for the performance for profit of his piece," Buck said.

He told of the fight to get the Motion Picture Exhibitors association, and the association of cab-

Soviets Drive Deep Into War-Torn Land Of Poles

Advance of Red Army Adds New and Serious Complexities To The Conflict In Europe

BERLIN, Sept. 18—(INS)—Soviet Russian and German troops occupying Poland met today at the historic city of Brest-Litovsk, according to a Moscow dispatch to the official German news agency, DNB.

Moscow radio sations announced late today that Russian troops have reached Wilno, Poland, near the Lithuanian frontier, according to a DNB report from the soviet capital.

As it was announced that Russian troops were entering Poland to "protect" Ukrainians and white Russians living in the country, the German high command announced further progress by the nazi armies. The Russian penetration was reported in the vicinity of Wilno (1). The Germans said Lwow (2) was surrounded on three sides and retreat of Polish forces toward the southeast to Przemval was cut. The German report further stated Doblin (3) was taken and the battle around Kutno (4) continued according to plan with the city being taken from the west.

Buffer State May Be Set Up In Poland

Germans And Russians Give Strong Hint Of Intentions

MOSCOW, Sept. 18—(AP)—Germany and soviet Russia today gave what was interpreted as a strong hint of intentions to create a small Polish buffer state when their invading armies finish conquering Poland.

A joint soviet-German communique was issued declaring that the intention of their armies was to help the Polish people "reconstruct conditions of their state existence."

"These troops do not pursue any aims which are against the interests of Germany or the U.S.S.R. or against the spirit and letter of the soviet-German non-aggression pact," said the communique.

"The mission of the troops is to bring order and peace to Poland."

(The official German news agency issued a substantially similar announcement in Berlin.)

Russ Troops Advance.

The joint communique was broadcast from Russian radio stations as soviet troops moved deeper into war-weakened Poland.

Poland ordered her ambassador, Waclaw Grzybowski, to leave Moscow in protest against the soviet march into Polish territory.

Word from the red army general staff of a constantly narrowing wedge between Russian and German troops revived reports an armistice in the European war will be proposed as soon as Poland's fate is determined.

Such a proposal, diplomatic sources said, might be made by Russia or Germany's axis partner, Italy.

With the first move from the east that pinned Poland in a vise yesterday, Moscow informed Poland's allies, Britain and France, the soviet union would follow a neutral policy toward them.

In a radio broadcast by Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslaff Molotoff and in his notes to 25 governments represented in Warsaw Battle Rages.

BUDEPEST, Hungary, Sept. 18—(INS)—Bitter fighting raged for possession of Warsaw today, accompanied by a stirring blow by blow radio description that frequently was interrupted by bursting shells and bombs.

The Warsaw radio, still in Polish hands, reported that pitched battles were being fought in the Warsaw suburbs during the morning between German forces and the desperate, last-ditch defenders of the beleaguered city.

While the fighting raged, a German broadcasting station using the Warsaw radio's wave length, frequently interrupted the Polish broadcasts.

War of Words.

"The Polish situation is terrible," said the German announcer. "Warsaw will surrender soon."

But the Polish announcer came back with an immediate retort to the Germans.

"Don't believe the German broadcast," he shouted into the microphone.

"Warsaw will fight to the end. No one will surrender while he is still alive."

(By the Associated Press.)

British Lost Warcraft.

Britain's mighty navy lost an aircraft carrier today and soviet Russian and German armies closed in on war-shattered Poland.

France reported only "local activity" on the western front where French forces hold positions slightly inside the German frontier.

Besieged Warsaw, abandoned by her government, remained in Polish hands.

President Moscicki of Poland, government leaders and Polish troops and planes crossed into Rumania to escape the slowly closing vise formed by Germans advancing from the west and soviet Russians from the east.

The her army advance, a sudden Sunday morning stroke which added new complexities to the European war, was said to have reached towns 50 miles inside the Polish frontier.

Talk Of Armistice.

With the strip of territory narrowing between Russian and German forces, talk of an armistice following upon a new partition of Poland was heard in Moscow quarters.

The British admiralty said the aircraft carrier Courageous had been "lost by submarine action." The 22,500-ton warship, launched in 1916, had been serving with Britain's reserve fleet attempting to sweep German ships from the

John C. Hoff Dies Of Auto Crash Injuries

Lincoln Insurance Man Was Fatally Hurt In Collision With Truck Near Wisner

John C. Hoff, Lincoln insurance man, died at a West Point hospital late Monday morning of injuries received Friday evening in an auto-truck collision near Wisner. From the first little hope was entertained for his recovery.

Mr. Hoff, a representative of the New York Life Insurance Co., was out in the state on business at the time of the accident. He and Mrs. Hoff had planned to attend a convention school this week at French Lick, Ind., under sponsorship of the company.

He received numerous serious injuries in the crash, including a probable skull fracture, internal injuries and a broken nose and a fractured jaw.

Hoff for a number of years owned and operated a drug store at Wisner.

The driver of the truck, owned by William Christensen of Pilger, escaped with minor injuries.

He is survived by his wife, Edna; a daughter, Genevieve, and a son, Norman; and three grandchildren, all living in Lincoln. His home was at the Ambassador apartments, 1330 J street.

The body will be brought to Lincoln and taken to Roberts.

LABOR IS URGED TO SUPPORT ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—(AP)—An appeal to American labor to stand behind President Roosevelt, the new deal and its neutrality program was made today by Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America (CIO).

Speaking at the convention of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers, Hillman asserted "the president can be trusted more than anyone else to safeguard the interest of the nation."

Nazi Paper Asks Allies To Call Off Hostilities

Asserts 'One Must Regard This War As Starting Point'

BERLIN, Sept. 18—(INS)—A clear bid to the people of Great Britain and France to call off hostilities now that Poland has been taken over by Germany and Soviet Russia was made by the newspaper Boersen Zeitung today.

The paper, generally regarded as the mouthpiece of German finance and the army, said:

"The common people in Paris and London must now ask themselves why they are at war and for what purpose French divisions should shed their blood fruitlessly at the foot of the German west wall."

War Called "Starting Point."

Declaring that central Europe had at last elected to "take its destiny and its future into its own hands, abolishing Versailles completely," the paper continued:

"The vehicle of eastern European destiny can no longer be impeded by western European democracies.

"In looking forward into the future, one must regard this war as a starting point. After conclusion of events in Poland, the reich is looking forward to the tasks of the future with redoubled strength."

Europe's Midgets And The War

By J. E. LAWRENCE.

ON THE editorial page of this issue of The Lincoln Star reference appears to the smaller nations of Europe. There are five great powers on the European continent, four of them at war. The sympathies of Italy, the fifth, have been indicated clearly in the past three days.

Yet separating eastern Europe, which is Russia, from western Europe, which is France and the British Isles, are sixteen nations occupying a secondary importance, and in some instances only a tiny amount of territory. That does not include Germany or Italy. It does not include Austria, which became a part of the Greater Reich, Czechoslovakia, which sank beneath the onrushing tide, nor Albania, which was gobbled up by Mussolini.

Look at your map to visualize the destiny that was in store for some of the smaller nations of central Europe, and appears along the frontiers of others no more capable of self-defense than those which have fallen.

The dispatches Monday officially proclaimed what was apparent toward the close of last week. To Austria, Czechoslovakia, and Albania has been added crumbling Poland. The Scandanavian countries to the north, midget Esthonia, Latvia, and Lithuania immediately facing on the Baltic; Denmark, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, and Greece sense in the news of onrushing Russian armies and continued advance by German forces in Poland something which was not there even as recently as a week ago.

As Polish refugees—civilians and soldiers—pour across the Rumanian border—as Polish planes crashed upon each other at one small airfield where scores sought an asylum—as Pole and German marched toward each other the war becomes one all the more understandable. Some day Russia and Germany may fight among themselves but not now. Some day Germany and Italy may fight but not now. There are midget nations as next door neighbors and the collapse of Poland, one of the larger, has been too impressive to ignore.

As Polish city after Polish city falls to invaders, and as miles of territory are gobbled up, the herald of peace is heard. But there will be no peace by day or night in the heart of a continent where for centuries the peoples of many languages have dwelt in war and in peace.

The reader of The Lincoln Star is presented through the news dispatches, and the maps, and in pictures with the complete details of a struggle which may prove to be Europe's greatest, and which inevitably must be its most conclusive upon future events.

"Be Glad You Are Going To Classes, Not War," Says Boucher Welcoming 1,700 Freshmen To N.U.

About 1,700 University of Nebraska freshmen, convened at the coliseum Monday morning, were reminded by Chancellor C. S. Boucher that they should be thankful they were on their way to classes and not trenches. He also pointed out that Nebraska people have sacrificed to make the university education possible.

Speaking at the annual freshman day convocation, the chancellor advised the incoming group against breaking with well regulated habits, particularly in regard to the program of the church.

"If you have been a member of a church, by all means continue that affiliation here at the university," he declared, "and, if you have never attended church at home, it would be well that you

Education Is Privilege.

New students were also reminded by the chancellor that the opportunity of obtaining a higher education is a privilege, and not a right. Tto be allowed this privilige, they will be expected to do all in their power to master the type of educational program that has been made available, he said.

That it is worth their while to study diligently, Dr. Boucher pointed out that studies of college people now employed in the business world reveal conclusively that there is a direct correlation between the type of per-

Supreme Court Begins Fall Term

Two Cases Are Orally Argued First Session

Special Appearance In State Compensation Suit Taken Up

Beginning its September term, the Nebraska Supreme court Monday heard arguments in two appeals and received several motions. All members of the court, except Justice William B. Rose, who expects to return to Lincoln from Oregon within two weeks, were present.

Among the matters submitted at the opening of the court, was the special appearance filed by Rush C. Clarke, assistant attorney general, in which he challenged jurisdiction of the court to hear the compensation appeal of Eifel Anstine. Mrs. Anstine brought suit against the banking department, former employer of her husband, to collect compensation for his death which she said resulted from illness contracted while conducting a sale.

In his appearance, Clarke maintains the case is outside the jurisdiction of the court because the state has never given express permission to be sued by Mrs. Anstine. Her attorneys said such permission is not necessary because the compensation act itself makes the state liable for suit like other employers. The point is one which has never been ruled on before.

Britt Case Argued.

For the second time, the court heard oral arguments in an action brought by Charles P. Bratt in the Lancaster county District court, against the estate of his uncle, C. P. Bratt, to recover for improvements he said he placed on the uncle's land prior to his death.

When the case was first tried, the District court found in favor of the estate, denied Charles Bratt judgment. The Supreme court, however, reversed the decision and when the action was tried the second time, Charles Bratt won a judgment for $8,565. Officers and heirs of the estate brought the present appeal.

The second argument presented was that of attorneys in behalf of Lloyd E. Haynes, North Platte man, sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary for the rape of an 11 year old girl. While Haynes' attorneys told the court evidence was insufficient to convict Haynes, members of the attorney general's staff argued the trial was fair and the lower court's judgment should not be disturbed.

CONSTIPATED! Gas Crowds Heart.

"For years I had occasional constipation, headaches and pains in the back. Awful gas bloating seemed to crowd my heart. Adlerika always helped right away. Now I eat sausage, bananas, pie, anything I want and never felt better."—Mrs. Mabel Schott. Two things happen when you are constipated. FIRST: Accumulated wastes swell up bowels and press on nerves in the digestive tract. SECOND: Partly digested food starts to decay forming GAS, often bringing on sour stomach, indigestion, and heartburn, bloating you up until you sometimes gasp for breath. Adlerika gives double relief with DOUBLE ACTION. BALANCED Adlerika containing three laxatives and five carminatives relieves STOMACH GAS almost at once. It often clears bowels in less than two hours. No griping, no after effects, just quick results.

Burke Asserts His Mind Open

Will Go At Least Part Of Way With President Roosevelt

(Special to The Star.)

SEWARD, Neb., Sept. 18—Speaking here Sunday evening to a Constitution day audience, Sen. Edward R. Burke, on the eve of his departure for Washington for the special session of congress, deviated briefly from his subject "Whose Constitution?" to state that he will attend the special session open minded.

He expressed a determination to help keep this country from becoming entangled in European and Asiatic wars and added that he does not ever want to see American soldiers again going to fight on foreign soil.

Senator Burke briefly outlined the subject matter of the coming special session as covering amendments of the neutrality act with reference to the proposed "cash and carry" limits on shipping to foreign nations in conflict; empowering the president to establish combat zones on the high seas, and prohibiting American citizens from sailing on other than American ships. He expressed no definite views, however, on the position he will take on any of these questions, except that he would go along with the administration until it appears to be tending toward involving the United States in a foreign war.

ments in the east. He didn't know

He concluded his preview of the extra session by stating that he subscribes almost completely to what the president has recently expressed that partisanship should end at the water's edge.

Taking up the subject of the constitution, he pointed out the value of the document as a protector of popular rights through a series of cases which exemplify the need of freedom of speech, the press, of the home and educational institutions, the right of a fair trial, and freedom of thought.

Opinion Not Changed

OMAHA, Sept. 18—(AP)—Sen. Edward R. Burke said today a statement at Seward yesterday that he is keeping "an open mind" on the arms embargo repeal does not indicate he has changed his opinion the embargo should be lifted.

His present thought, he added, "is that repeal of the embargo is the best way to keep us out of war. If anybody can show me that another method will be more effective, I am open to conviction, though frankly, I don't expect that to happen."

Russia's entrance into the war "makes the world's situation the most serious it has been since the days of Napoleon; far more serious than in the World war," he commented. "Nobody can tell what's going to happen."

Meet Mr. Lochinvar

By Marie Blizard

SATURDAY. Locke returns, looking like a fashion plate. Cecily confides to Laura what she found in Locke's cabin.

Chapter 30.

TELEPHONE CALL.

"You can't be in love with him," said Laura, "or you would not be so ready to be suspicious of him."

Cecily was beyond reason.

"But, Laura, he was in Vickersport last night. We both saw him. And never have I seen him looking the way he did. He came back yesterday. Tony saw him getting off the bus. And he hasn't been in all day! I haven't left this shop since nine this morning."

"He's a man of affairs, probably."

"Affairs! Filling berry buckets, dangling a fishpole over the side of a dock, whittling a piece of wood! Affairs!"

"Well, Cecily, make up your mind. You like him and accept him for what he is, or you forget him."

"I'll forget him. How could I do anything else?"

"If I were you, I'd find out. I'm on his side. I like him! I don't know much about men but I do know something about human nature. I agree with you that things look suspicious, his fine clothes and his pretenses, and his air of mystery about himself, but I'll rely on my instincts about him. He's a gentleman and I don't believe he'd do any wrong. Why don't you have it out with him? Why don't you tell him how you feel about his . . . well, his banter?"

"Easier said than done, my friend. Do you bid the east wind come when you want it? Can you turn on the moon? Can you wave your hand in the air and make people appear out of a cloud of dust?"

Laura laughed. "Goose! This isn't New York. No one could hide from you here if you wanted to see them."

"There is also the point that I don't want to talk to him. I can't explain it to you, Laura, but things are just that way between us. I simply can't seek him out."

"But I could," Laura said simply.

The idea arrested Cecily. "Oh, let's forget it. I guess I'm just tired. You're quite right—I have been making a situation out of something that really isn't important."

She got up and put on her white coat.

"I wish I could ask you back to the cottage with me, Cecily, but I'm having supper at the inn tonight with Miss Dixon."

"I'd better hurry or I won't have a chance to change for dinner," Cecily said.

Cecily hurried through her bath, put pads of cold watersoaked cotton on her swollen eyes and came down to dinner a little later as the others were going into the dining-room.

She took little part in the conversation, feeling herself no part of anything.

They were having coffee in the drawing-room when Helene said, "Olivia apparently the recent unpleasantness at Mrs. Brewster's is not finished business. Your housemaid informed Wilson who told it in turn to Manuel that Mrs. Brewster sent for a detective from a Boston agency. He came yesterday and left today."

"I Wouldn't"

"But Mrs. Brewster said it was all nonsense! That Lady Rathbone never did have the pin."

"Wouldn't she say that to make her guests feel more at ease?"

Olivia dismissed it. "I suppose she would. What a lot of unpleasantness over one small pin!"

"Mother, you'd be having hysterics all over the place if you lost an earring," Gloria said banteringly.

"Listen to the child! Do you see me making a fuss, Gloria? And haven't I a half-million dollars' worth of jewels in my bedroom safe?"

"Do let us see them, Olivia," Helene pleaded.

"It's silly of me but I always take them with me even up here. I never wear more than a piece or two but I do rather drape myself for the concert. Aurelia Despecchi always wears her rubies for the concert and Madame Branzanga wears every one of her famous pearls. I'll go along and get them."

Olivia sailed toward the door but Tony reached it as quickly. She placed a hand gently on Olivia's arm. "I wouldn't, Madame Darrell. Much as we'd like to see them, I do think they're safer where they are. After all, one never knows . . ."

Olivia hesitated, measured glance for glance with Tony and laughed softly. "Dear child! They'd be quite safe here. However, I think it would be a bore. Some other time."

She turned back to the room and crossed to the piano.

Tony's gaze followed her and Cecily rose swiftly, intending to follow an impuse that came to her.

For once she intended to follow an impulse without questioning it.

The telephone—there was only one at Darelea and that an old-fashioned one that required ringing the extension one wanted by simply turning a handle—was at the end of the main hall, back of the coat closet.

Cecily made her way to it and picked up the receiver. She twisted the handle once slowly, twice fast, trying to do it gently so that the echoing tinkle wouldn't be heard in the drawing-room.

After a little while a voice answered her.

"Is this the inn? May I please speak with Mrs. Atwill? She's having supper with Miss Dixon. . . . Yes, thank you, I'll wait."

Cecily, waiting for Laura, couldn't see around at her back. She heard footsteps come into the hall and go away again.

Then she heard Laura's voice. She dropped hers so that she was speaking barely above a whisper:

"Laura, this is Cecily. Mrs. Brewster has had a detective up from Boston. I must see Locke. He knows something, I'm sure. I just have a hunch that there is something afoot. Do you think it would be all right for me to go to his cabin? It's moonlight and I'm not afraid. I want to talk to him. I have a feeling he can clear up things. . . . Yes, that trip of his had something to do with it, I'm sure. . . . You will? . . . But should you? . . . Oh, it's easy to find. . . . Yes, straight down the North road past the Soderson's place. No, there isn't another place anywhere along the road. . . . All right, tonight."

Reasonable Explanation?

She rang off, not knowing what to do. Laura was right, of course. Laura should go, not Cecily.

And Laura had promised her that she would not go alone; she'd get one of the Calder boys to walk the longely road with her.

Cecily stood undertermined for a minute and then went out into the hall. She came almost face to face with Philip.

"I was going to call the drug-store and ask them to send up some soda, Cecily, but now I have a better idea. Why don't we take a walk to the village together? I haven't had your pleasant company alone for a long time."

Cecily's eyes scanned his face searchingly. Had he heard her conversation?

Satisfied that he hadn't, she said, "Not tonight, Philip. I've had a hard day and I'm going to turn in early and read myself to sleep."

"Okay, little one. I'll see if one of the others will go. I could do with a bit of fresh air."

Cecily went back to the drawing-room and picked up her knitting. Mechanically, she lifted thread over thread, clicking her needless smartly in time to the quickening pace of her thoughts.

Laura, as a disinterested stranger, could talk to Locke, demand to know all about him, explain the situation and get a reasonable explanation.

After tomorrow everything would be all right. And if the explanation were not reasonable—

She thrust the knitting into her bag and got up. "If you'll excuse me, I think I'll turn in."

"Don't go, Cecily. Philip is going to the village to get some soda. He's going to make a hot punch. Think how well you'll sleep after that."

"I'll sleep well enough now, Gloria." Cecily yawned extravagantly.

She did sleep. But it was not well enough. Troubled dreams and a troubled conscience haunted her. She tossed the night away dreaming that Laura — poor, sacred, timid little thing — had been accosted by a mountain lion on the road to Locke. She woke with the subconscious thought haggling at the edge of her consciousness and was glad for the daylight which would bring an end to it.

Minerva's Mail

TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO MINERVA

TURMOIL

Today we have a letter from Nell—and we're delighted because it has been several weeks since we have heard from her—Nell takes up the world turmoil, and has some rather definite opinions of her own on the subject. Here is her letter:

Dear Minerva: I've been watching for letters on this world turmoil, but apparently people don't think too much about it—except to hope that America stays out of the war.

Everyday the radio brings us news, and often an analyst to interpret it for us. The French and British do this: Germany or Poland does that. And they try to tell us what each hopes to gain or to accomplish by the act. And in America women listen and then rush out to buy a few more pounds of sugar quite unrealizing that if the war continues long the few dollars they may save will be unimportant and if it doesn't it still is unimportant.

Analysts tell us this war was brought about by a stupid brain and in the next breath they tell us it was inevitable and our own fault for putting a nation in an intolerable situation in the first place. And we others, the vast majority of American people who read and listen form our own personal opinion and then shrug the whole matter aside—it is something for governments to worry about, we say.

Keep America out of war. That is the rhythem by which America is living today. It doesn't remember—it doesn't want to remember that there may be some things worse than. They don't take into consideration the fact that the world is a small place, that progress has brought it to the place where the greed for power must be satisfied—or else.

THE OLD STORY

Sometimes I think there will never be true peace without a terrible war. Oh yes, I know they say that war doesn't bring peace. Who are THEY? Why should THEY pretend to know more about peace than you and I? If nations continue to grow, continue to need the room for expansion, how can there ever be lasting peace? Ultimately the best force must win—and let's hope that it will be a kindly force that does. If that sounds paradoxical it is because you don't see what I mean. The world is not big enough for competition between nations—it is only big enough for competition between individuals. The only way a truly lasting peace may come will be when nations recognizes some supreme central power that regulates difficulties and decides bitterness. Perhaps some day there will be a real arbitrary group composed representatively who can actually preserve peace. Providing the nations themselves take measures to build a standard of values from spiritual, cultural, progressive things rather than ostentatious show.

The trouble with all of us today is that our standard of values is wrong; that we fight for things we cannot hold when we get, that have no true value; that we put our emphasis on the physical and starve the soul.

Perhaps I haven't made myself clear. I'm not trying to start an argument. But what do some of the rest of you think? My reaction might be summed up thus: God pity us today—we are not FIT for peace!—NELL.

ZETA BETA TAU STEAKS WELL DONE

Well done steaks were on the dinner menu Sunday at the Zeta Beta Tau fraternity, 1515 L, although the members and guests almost had to settle for hamburgers. In the preparation of dinner the cook had placed several steaks in the oven to broil. In some manner grease dripped into the flames causing the meat to burn.

Firemen hurried to the fraternity to help salvage what was left of the steaks, but found on their arrival the flames had been extinguished. Some practical person had smothered the fire with baking soda.

Commutation Is Again Sought By Everett Daniel

Plattsmouth Man Still Denies Killing; 24 Others Also Up

The state pardon poard will hear pleas for clemency from 25 prisoners at its regular meeting Oct. 11, including those of two long termers whose previous requests have been denied.

One of these is Everett Daniel, 63-year-old Plattsmouth farmer, who was sentenced Dec. 14, 1932, to 12 years for the second degree murder of James Zoubek, son of one of his neighbors. Daniel's first request for a commutation, supported by petitions from Cass county friends and acquaintances, was denied in April, 1937.

Though Daniel, in his application to the board, maintains he is innocent of the crime, the late W. G. Kieck who, as county attorney, prosecuted the case told the board in a communication in 1933:

"There had been friction existing between these neighbors and Daniel's sons attempted to beat up on the deceased James Zoubek when the defendant, Everett Daniel, appeared on the scene and stabbed Zoubek."

Denies Fighting.

According to Daniel, however, he was not engaged in a fight with Zoubek at all. On the night Zoubek was hurt, he said, he was sitting on the front porch of his home when he heard a commotion a short distance from the house. Thinking his son, John, was in trouble, he went to the scene of the disturbance and was promptly knocked down a couple of times by one Earl Newton, who, he said, was a friend of James Zoubek. Daniel said, he left a short time later after trying to help John start his car but insists he was not fighting with Zoubek. Zoubek was fatally hurt Sept. 5, 1932.

Another prisoner granted a hearing before the board for the second time is Magnus Torske, 59, a North Platte farmer, who shot and killed Louis Paulson, a Hastings attorney, during an argument at the Torske farm over the payment of a note Torske had given to one of Paulson's clients.

Torske, who was sentenced to 17 years June 29, 1931, declares he did not know the gun he pointed in Paulson's direction was loaded. He explains he snatched it up from a fence where it had been left by one of his sons at the conclusion of a hunting trip..

Among others sentenced to long terms who the board will hear are:

Furnas County Case.

Walter Brown, 44, of Beaver City, sentenced to 18 years Oct. 9, 1933, for the shooting of Wayne Rank, Furnas county farmer. Brown maintains he is innocent, explaining he and Leonard Fields went to the Rank farm for some gasoline and that after he returned to their car, "Fields told me he had seen some men in the pasture and there was some shooting." Fields was also sentenced to 18 years on a second degree murder charge but was not granted a hearing at this session of the board.

Walter Highet, 34, the last of four men serving time in the penitentiary for the $2,241 robbery of the Farmers State bank at Brule in Keith county, Aug. 26, 1931. He received a 15 year sentence and when released from the Nebraska prison will be claimed by Arizona authorites to finish a 7 to 12 year term in the Arizona penitentiary for highway robbery. He escaped from the Arizona prison shortly before participating in the Brule robbery. The other three men involved in the bank robbery have previously been released.

Felix Kieltyka, 35, sentenced Feb. 24, 1933, to 15 years on a charge of assault with attempt to rob Milton Pitman of Columbus. Kieltyka explains he had been drinking prior to the attempted holdup.

Limerick To Appear.

Earl Limerick, 30, of Council Bluffs, brother of the late Tom Limerick, Alcatraz prisoner who was killed while trying an escape, will appear before the board seeking release from the 10 year sentence he received Nov. 19, 1935, for implication in a box car robbery at Ashland. Limerick, who has been an outside trusty, blames his previous record for the long sentence. Two other men connected with the burglary got three and four year sentences and have been discharged.

The board also will hear Jake Degele, 55, McCook farmer, sentenced Oct. 19, 1938, to two years for setting fire to a dwelling house on his farm. Degele explains in his application that the property was being foreclosed and "in my mental state it was the thought of some one else living in that house that caused me to do this act."

Other cases set:

Penitentiary Paroles.

E. B. Hansen, 59, of Lincoln, forgery, 2 to 5 years, Sept. 21, 1937, second appearance before the board.

Augustus Charlton, 41, of Riverside, N. J., sentenced from Lancaster county for auto theft to one to three years, July 21, 1936.

Edward Brohm, 44, of Lyons, one to 20 years from Lancaster county Nov. 16, 1929, for forgery; paroled 1931, violated, returned to prison Aug. 4, 1938.

William McGalliard, 36, Scottsbluff, sentenced March 13, 1937, from Scotts Bluff, for forgery, one to 3.

Edgar Stephenson, 20, Kansas City, Mo., sentenced one to 3 years from Omaha, Aug. 30, 1938, forgery.

Commutations.

Robert Divine, 49, Ringgold, Neb., incest, 20 years, sentenced May 28, 1932, from McPherson.

John Callaghan, 27, Omaha, insufficient check, 2 years, Jan. 25, 1936.

Reformatory Paroles.

Donald Turner, 20, of York, burglary, 1½ to 4, sentenced June 27, 1936.

Forest Christenson, 20, Grand Island, one to 3, Hall county, breaking and entering, Sept. 27, 1938.

Edward Williams, 20, Omaha, one to 3, Douglas county, auto theft, Aug. 3, 1938.

Bernard Schreckengast, 17, Rising City, one to 2, auto theft, Sept. 22, 1938, Otoe county.

Donald Rutherford, 17, Grand Island, one to 5, burglary, Sept. 27, 1938, Hall county.

Ralph Avery, 18, Los Angeles, and Albert Avery, 18, Minneapolis, breaking and entering automobile, one to 2 years, sentenced Oct. 1, 1938, from Scotts Bluff.

Lewis Beard, 27, Kansas City, Mo., auto theft, one to 5, Lancaster, Sept. 8, 1938.

Lloyd Gentry, 25, Sedgwick, Colo., forgery, one to 5, Scotts Bluff county, sentenced Oct. 8, 1938.

Bob Lamons, 20, of Corry, Pa., larceny, 8 months to 2 years, Oct. 26, 1938, from Keith county.

Reformatory Commutations.

John Merral, 26, Rosendale, Mo., robbery, five years from Omaha, sentenced Jan. 18, 1937.

Knickerbocker Foresees . . .

SIX-YEAR WAR

This Calculation Is Based On Soviet Entry Into Conflict, Plus Moscow-Tokyo Agreement

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER.

LONDON, Sept. 18—(INS)—The world can now look forward to a war probably lasting six years as a result of the events of the last week-end.

For in the opinion of professional observers, active entry of soviet Russia into the war, plus the Russo-Japanese agreement, have added another two years to its likely duration.

This calculation is based upon the present belligerents alone, and does not take into consideration any kind of American participation.

Officials in London ever since the beginning of the war have been most careful to avoid any appearance of propagandizing America, but every announcement of American public opinion is naturally read with greatest interest and today's report of the latest Gallup poll is no exception.

Among the opinions of the American public therein reported, one certainly should find no one to share it on this side—namely, that the war is going to last less than a year.

It certainly was difficult today to maintain a note of optimism in the allied communiques which had to include the sinking of the Courageous. But the loss of this war vessel actually was bound to increase the fighting spirit of England, where the navy is the most treasured of all institutions.

HITLER WITHDRAWING FORCES.

Russia's invasion of Poland on the other hand, it is believed here, may incur the following consequences or the accompanying events:

First, Hitler will withdraw larger forces from Poland sooner than had been expected before Russia marched. He has already begun to do so, which indicates that he is not fearful of the red army but has a genuine military agreement with Stalin.

Second, the smaller part of these forces Hitler will send to the western front to reinforce his line against the French attack, while he will dispatch a larger force to Rumania at the same time that Russia attacks Rumania and Bessarabia.

Rumania, if attacked by Germany and Russia at the same time, will be in a militarily hopeless position, and won't have even as much chance as Poland had to defend herself.

The great object now for Hitler, however, is the Rumanian oil fields and it is now believed he has arranged with Stalin to divide Rumania. Since Hitler, however, will have seized the lion's share of both Poland and Rumania, Stalin, it is believed, will take compensation by occupying Estonia and Latvia and maybe also Finland.

The effect of all these events upon Turkey at any rate is not calculated to promote her enthusiasm over entering actively on the allied side.

4 Kentuckians Shot To Death

Gun Fight Is Staged In A Tavern; Old Grudge Is Blamed

PAINTSVILLE, Ky., Sept. 18—(AP)—A tavern gun battle which Sheriff Julius B. Daniels said he believed was started by a mountain "vengeance" quarrel left four men dead today.

The sheriff said he found three of the victims dead or dying when he arrived at the roadside inn after the shooting Saturday night. They were Sambo Nelson, 50, owner of the tavern; Fred Adams, 60, a deputy sheriff, and William Fannin, 28. Fannin's brother, Hobart, about 22, died of wounds in a hospital yesterday.

Nelson's wife and son, John, 19, were wounded slightly in the exchange of approximately 45 pistol shots.

Sheriff Daniels said he was holding Eddie Sammons, a former constable, on a murder charge.

Sammons arrested William Fannin on a rape charge more than two years ago, the sheriff said, and the two men met Saturday night for the first time since Fannin completed serving a penitentiary sentence recently.

The gun fight started, Daniels continued, when Fannin struck Sammons on the head with a pistol and Deputy Sheriff Adams, a witness, sought to arrest Fannin.

Pamphlets Dropped By British Planes Carried By Nazi War Prisoners

PARIS, Sept. 18—(AP)—Partisans were informed today that the first German soldiers captured in French action on the western front were carrying pamphlets strewn over Germany by British planes.

(The British air force's "propaganda war" started during the first week of hostilities. Millions of pamphlets which said the German government "deliberately and cold bloodedly" started the war and "refused peace with honor" were dropped from planes to the German people.)

Britain's War Plan Unchanged

Future Relations With Russia Big Question; Cabinet Meets

By MAX HARRELSON.

LONDON, Sept. 18—(AP)—The British government was represented today as more than ever determined to fight Germany to a finish despite the new situation created by soviet Russia's invasion of Poland.

Just how important these new complications would be was not immediately clear.

The government continued to study the situation, but remained silent pending receipt of more detailed information.

The possibility of action such as Russian forces took against Poland yesterday, informed sources said, had been taken into account by Britain and France from the moment the German-Russian non-aggression pact was signed Aug. 24.

Intends to Crush Nazi Regime.

Authoritative quarters said the new developments in no way altered Britain's belief there can be no peace until the nazi regime in Germany is wiped out.

The big question, however, was Britain's future relations with soviet Russia.

Britain had the charge of the Polish embassy here that Russia violated the Polish frontier by an "act of direct aggression."

(A similar complaint against Germany, made in London by Polish Ambassador Count Edward Raczynski, who invoked the British-Polish mutual assistance treaty after German armies invaded Poland Sept. 1, brought Great Britain into the war against Germany Sept. 3.

(Britain and France, which also entered the war in fulfillment of treaty obligations to Poland, are bound to help defend Polish independence against any aggression.)

Russia Says She Is Neutral.

It was stated authoritatively Britain had a brief report from her ambassador to Moscow, Sir William Seeds, but was waiting fuller information.

Complicating the involved situation was the soviet government's declaration it would pursue a policy of neutrality with Britain.

Furthermore, the Polish ambassdor remained in Moscow. The British diplomatic view was that the attitude of the Polish government itself was not clear, and that a government in flight from home soil cannot operate.

Britain has been in close consultation with French and Polish officials here.

Cabinet Meets.

The cabinet was expected to decide today whether parliament should be called before its scheduled meeting Wednesday.

Some sections of the press saw Russia's invasion of Poland as a forerunner of further acts of aggression in conjunction with Germany.

"It may be that with Poland crushed between her two enemies," the Daily Express said, "Rumania will be called upon by Russia to digorge Bessarabia.

"This district was cut away from Russia and taken by Rumania at the end of the last war.

"Then, as an additional price for her intervention in the Polish war, Russia may have extracted a promise from Germany for a free hand in the Baltic."

Collections—County Sheriff Davis paid $8,264.93 to the County Treasurer Berg Monday, representing the first payment of 1938 distress warrants. The money, representing the first 10 days collection, was for 636 warrants.

Fined $500—Janet Long was fined $500 and costs by District Judge Shepherd Monday when she pleaded guilty to a charge of selling liquor without a license last July. She was fined the same amount in Municipal court, but had appealed.

Colonel Thuis Speaker — Chamber of commerce junior division activities will be resumed Tuesday noon when Col C. A. Thuis, university R. O. T. C. commandant will be the speaker. He will talk on the European situation, and explain the role of the R. O. T. C. in the event of war.

Appeal—H. J. Coffin of Burwell, appealed to the Supreme court Monday from a Custer county District court ruling giving the Old Line Life Insurance company a first lien against property held by Coffin in the sum of $338. Coffin had asked that title to the property be quieted in him and the claims of the company barred.

Governor's Itinerary—Governor Cochran said Monday his speaking agenda for the week includes speaking engagements Tuesday before a district meeting of the Nebraska Volunteer Firemen's association at Nebraska City, the 4-H club fair and rodeo Wednesday at McCook, and the Jefferson county fair, Thursday, at Fairbury.

Extradition Refused — On the ground that the record failed to show any crime had been committed in Wisconsin by Elton Steinkraus of Pender, Governor Cochran refused to permit his extradition to that state Monday to face charges of wife abandonment and support. From evidence presented at the hearing, the governor said, it was shown that Steinkraus had been working in Nebraska when his wife left this state and went to Wisconsin.

Beer Permit Suspended — The state liquor commission, following da hearing Monday, suspended the beer-liquor licenses of the Hill Hotel company, Omaha, for 15 days beginning Thursday at midnight. Commission agents reported the hotel company sold liquor by the drink to Somberg's restaurant for re-sale to customers. Sam Josephson, Hill hotel manager, told the commission Somberg's restaurant is operated on property leased from the hotel and it was thought the hotel's license covered that property too. He added the practice was stopped as soon as the hotel received notice from the commission to appear and explain the situation.

BURIAL INSURANCE FIRM BEING STUDIED

John Logan, attorney for the state insurance department, said Monday he is investigating complaints which have come to him regarding operating of the Loyal Order of American Fellowship, Inc., of Council Bluffs, Ia., a burial insurance concern.

The company, he said, informed a Lincoln policyholder that it has taken over the Colonial Benefit Association and that claimants against that company will have to wait until sufficient surpluses have been built up before their claims will be paid. Logan added the new concern is being conducted by the same officers who operated the Colonial company.

Buffer State May Be Set Up In Poland

Moscow, crossing of the frontier was described as necessary to protect once-Russian minorities in eastern Poland.

Molotoff said the Polish government "ceased to exist," and the minorities—11,000,000 white Russians and Ukrainians—were "abandoned entirely to their fate."

A Russian broadcast said red army troops had been given jubilant welcomes by the population of white Russia and in the Polish Ukraine.

It made no mention of fighting, although the radio last night acknowledged the Poles were putting up resistance.

The broadcast said inhabitants of the previously Russian regions were greeting soviet soldiers with flowers, and that political workers attached to the Russian army already had organized meetings to propound benefits of life in the soviet union and promise the same to Ukrainians and white Russians.

Newspapers were filled with accounts of meetings in factories and on collective farms throughout Russia acclaiming the government's decision to march into Poland.

Advance On 500-Mile Front.

The red army advance was reported general along a 500-mile frontier between Latvia on the north and Rumania on the south.

Deepest thusts were said to be far to the north—center of Poland's white Russian minority—and in southeastern Poland—the Ukrainian minority territory. Towns as far as 50 miles from the frontier were listed as captured in the first day's invasion.

Russians said they took Glebokie, northeast of Wilno; Baranowicze, railway center 50 miles from the frontier; Dubno, northeast of Lwow, and Tarnopol, in the Ukrainian section southeast of Lwow.

That would place the Russian and German armies within 68 miles of each other. That is the distance from Dubno to Wlodzimierz, reported held by German troops north of Lwow.

Advance guards of the two forces would be even closer southeast of Lwow. German mechanized units were reported to have crossed a railway southeast of Lwow. Russian advance troops were said to be in Tarnopol, within 50 miles of the railroad.

At Baranowicze, German planes and Russian troops struck at the same objective. The Russian general staff announced the capture after Russian and German radio broadcasts told of heavy German air raids against the city.

New Scout Troop Organized at St. Teresa's Church

With seven members of scout troop No. 2 of St. Matthew's Episcopal church in charge of the induction service, troop No. 28, was organized Sunday evening at St. Teresa's church, Thirty-sixth and J streets. The scoutmaster is J. J. Quigley, and his assistant, Harold E. Hoeppner. The members of the troop are Jack and Bud Stewart, Edwin and Dick Costello, Jack Durbin, Robert Turner, James House, Edward Becker, jr., and Billy Smith. The members of the inducting group were Leo Beck, jr., Stanley Spaulding, Lester Buckley, jr., and Newman Buckley, L. L. Campbell, jr., "Rusty" Roberts, and Dick Lahr.

Edward A. Becker, is chairman of the troop committee. The other members are Rev. M. M. Kaczmarek, T. M. Blockwitz, Prof. Clarence A. Forbes, and Edward J. Cripe.

Attending the service were Claude S. Wilson, president of the Cornhusker council, and Leo J. Beck, neighborhood scout commissioner. Both spoke as did Rev. Mr. Kaczmarek. President Wilson presented the new troop its charter, and talked on the benefits of scouting.

F. D. R. Asks Landon And Knox To Parley

said that "partisanship and selfishness" should "be adjourned" and that national unity should be the thought that underlies all others.

Attitude Not Known.

Asked whether it was known how Landon felt about the administration's neutrality ideas, Early said he did not believe the record ever had been scrutinized to find out.

The presidential secretary said the meeting would begin at 2 p. m., central standard time, Wednesday and that Secretary Hull also would sit in, probably as the only cabinet member.

Early replied with a firm "no" to a question about whether the decision to ask Landon and Knox, the republican presidential and vice presidential candidates in 1936, might be interepreted as a move in the direction of coalition or bi-partisan action.

Mr. Roosevelt continued conversations on the international situation by telephone, over the week-end, Early said, but has not yet touched pencil to paper on his message to congress for next Thursday.

Borah, Nye Lead Fight.

Friends of Senators Borah (R-Ida.) and Nye (R-N. D.) predicted today that they would seek to align senate republicans as a group against President Roosevelt's proposal to repeal the embargo against arms shipments to warring nations.

Although the senators were silent as to their intentions, persons close to them said there was no doubt they would try to obtain an endorsement, from a majority at a party conference, of their stand for retention of the embargo.

Borah and Nye contend that the sale of arms to France and Great Britain would be the first step toward eventual involvement of this country in war. Like many others on both sides of the controversy over the arms embargo provision of the neutrality act, they say Britain and France would be the beneficiaries of repeal because their seapower would prevent Germany from getting arms here.

May Meet G. O. P. Opposition.

With this as the basis of their campaign, the two senators were represented as believing they could convince most of their colleagues that they would be doing the patriotic thing to oppose the president's program.

They were likely to meet opposition, however, from Senators Austin of Vermont, the assistant republican leader, and Taft of Ohio, both of whom have declared for repeal of the embargo.

In addition, friends said both Borah and Nye thought their efforts probably would be met by the contention that they were attempting to inject party politics into a matter which President Roosevelt has said should be considered in an atmosphere devoid of partisanship.

Party Action Unlikely.

Borah was represented, however, as believing that the republicans should take a stand. Nye was said to feel that not only the senate republicans but the party organization itself should do so. Most analysts believed action by the party organization was unlikely, however, because of divided sentiment among national leaders.

The fight agaist repeal was carried on yesterday by another republican, Senator Johnson of California, who contended that repeal of the embargo would make this country a partisan economically in the fighting in Europe.

METHODIST LAYMEN OPPOSE REPEAL OF EMBARGO ON ARMS

Believe Neutrality Can Best Be Preserved By Selling Munitions To No One

A resolution indirectly opposing repeal of the arms embargo, as sought by President Roosevelt, was passed by the Nebraska Methodist Lay conference.

The Laymen also commended peace officers who have taken action to clean out gambling and vice.

The resolutions follow:

"It is hereby resolved that this Lay conference call on the president and congress of the United States to do everything in their power to keep this country out of the present war. This conference believes that our country can best promote peace and good will on earth by refraining from supplying any war materials to any belligerents in any war, declared or undeclored."

"We highly commend all law enforcement officers who have taken definite action in cleaning out gambling and vice in our state, and we encourage further activities in strictly enforcing all criminal laws."

Gene Buck On Stand As ASCAP Suit Begins

aret operators to pay ASCAP royalties. This was followed by the phonograph companies.

Says Amendments Sought.

Part of his testimony was to show that the various users had continually tried to get amendments to the copyright laws to prevent their having to pay ASCAP.

Broadcasting, he said, has been the latest inroad of a mechanized world into the musician's life. It has reduced his royalties from sheet music sales 70 per cent. It has also reduced the life of a hit tune from two years to six weeks.

"With 30,000,000 radio sets, a tune becomes a hit over night, and lasts only six weeks at the most," Buck said.

Asked how he could collect royalties on his own songs—of which he has over 500—Buck said he would have to hire 3 or 4 investigators for the 391 users in Nebraska, hire an attorney, and fight tooth and nail.

"It would be really an impossible job," he said. "No author could collect anything for the use of his song, except through such an association."

Tells Of Collections

He testified that the association has collected from exhibitors in Nebraska a gross in 1937 of $54,474.64, and in 1938 $68,789.54, and to June 1 in 1939 over $38,000.

ASCAP makes contracts with each individual user, he said. It includes 132 publishers and 1,060 authors, each of whom has a contract with ASCAP, assigning to ASCAP the right to assign copyright privileges and collect royalties.

Buck in his testimony frequently indulged in reminiscences and reflections on the music business and show business, and the blows both have received from cabarets, movies, and radio. Judge Gardner overruled objections by special state attorney William J. Hotz, Omaha, but asked the plaintiff's attorneys to keep the witness to the subject.

Present on the side of the table with Hotz was Andrew Bennett of Washington, who made appearance as special attorney for one of the defendant county attorneys whom the plaintiff seeks to enjoin from enforcing the law. Bennett is counsel for the National Association of Broadcasters, and as special U. S. attorney filed the anti-monopoly suit against ASCAP, now dormant.

Others who made appearances were T. J. TePoel of Omaha for ASCAP, Herman Finkelstein, New York, for ASCAP, and John Riddell, assistant attorney general, for the state.

BRITISH LOSSES AT SEA MOUNT

sunk she had a reduced complement of aircraft and therefore presumably a somewhat smaller crew."

The admiralty said the usual aircraft complement of 48 planes had been reduced since August.

The brief official announcement in reporting this blow to the fleet said that destroyers "heavily attacked" the submarine which torpedoed the Courageous and were believed to have sunk her in turn.

Presumably in Sea Lanes.

There was no indication of where the Courageous was sunk, but presumably she was attacked in sea lanes close to home waters either in the Atlantic or North sea.

"Since the opening of hostilities she had been performing very good service in protecting ships of the mercantile marine against U-boat attacks," the admiralty said.

Presumably this meant the Courageous had been a major factor both in convoying merchant ships and in launching aircraft to attack submarines from the air.

Jane's Fighting Ships, authoritative work on world fleets, described the Courageous as a converted cruiser of 22,500 tons (26,500 tons full load). She originally was intended for Baltic service.

Built in 1916

First built in February, 1916, Jane's figures showed her to be the oldest, but one of the largest of the six British warcraft used as aircraft carriers.

Jane's gave her thickest armour plate as three inches on her sides and amidships.

She carried sixteen 4.7-inch guns, four three-pounders and 17 smaller pieces.

The beam of her flight deck was 100 feet and her overall length 786¼ feet.

The admiralty's announcement of the loss of the Courageous came two weeks after the world learned that the British liner Athenia had been sunk by a torpedo in the first hours of war between Germany and Great Britain.

Over a Score Sunk.

Since the hostilities began on Sept. 3, 24 British merchant ships have been announced as victims of what the British government has described as unrestricted German submarine warfare.

On the other hand the fleet and the Royal Air Force have ranged far afield and have been officially reported as sinking numerous submarines. Simultaneously a general convoy system had been pressed, but this had naturally been a slow undertaking on British sea lanes which circle the globe.

The Courageous was called out in the precautionary mobilization of the reserve fleet in August. Her movements since that time were secret until today.

She was the oldest of the six aircraft carriers in the British navy. Four others are due for completion next year.

Aircraft carriers left in the navy are the Ark Royal, the Glorious—a sister ship of the Courageons, the Furious, the Eagle and the Hermaes.

39 Vessels Sunk.

(By the Associated Press)

The sinking of the British aircraft carrier Courageous, a 22,500-ton vessel, today raised the current European war's known shipping losses to 39 vessels with an aggregate gross tonnage of 198,658.

On this side of the world the American navy went ahead with its preparations for the annual war games in the Pacific despite the hostilities in Europe.

About 150 warships and several hundred planes, manned by more than 50,000 officers and men, will participate.

Meanwhile, the outcome of a battle between a British airplane and a German submarine that sank a British steamer remained a mystery.

The unusual fight between the rival oversea and undersea raiders was described by Capt. H. A. Pederson of the U. S. lines' American Farmer last night in a radio message reporting his rescue of 29 crew members of the torpedoed British steamer Kafiristan.

The rescue took place 400 miles off the Irish coast. Six men were reported missing.

Submarine Assists.

Pederson said the U-boat which sank the 5,913-ton Kafiristan used its rockets and blinkers to help the American Farmer locate the lifeboats carrying survivors.

In the midst of rescue operations, however, a British airplane appeared and bombed the submarine.

The submarine replied with machine gun fire, Pederson said, "then disappeared, leaving very white smoke on the surface."

The master of the American rescue ship said the British survivors had cheered the U-boat commander and praised him for "very humane" treatment, particularly his offer to tow them toward Ireland, if they were not picked up quickly.

Sinking of the Kafiristan raised Great Britain's known ship casualties at the start of the third week of war to 22. Nine German, one French and six neutral vessels also have been lost.

Breakin Attempt At Gardner Jewelry Company Is Failure

An atempted break-in at the Gardner Jewelry Co., 1020 O street, was reported to police Monday morning. A glass cutter had made a small circular groove in the front window pane glass but the thieves were unable to cut all the way through.

Dr. E. C. McDade, above, former district superintendent of the Beatrice district of the Methodist church, was officially approved by the Nebraska conference Monday morning as new financial secretary of Bryan Memorial hospital, succeeding F. E. Sala, who resigned because of poor health.

Dr. McDade, who has been district superintendent for six years, was received on trial into the Iowa conference in 1905 and full membership in 1907. He spent many years serving Iowa pastorates before transferring to the Nebraska conference.

Russians Drive Deep Into Polish Territory

seas and protect British shipping from German submarines.

The German high command said it had one-fourth of the battered Polish army surrounded south of Warsaw.

It said its Polish campaign was "nearing its end."

Poland's Fate Sealed.

The soviet march apparently sealed Poland's fate.

Premier-Foreign Commissar Molotoff told 24 other nations, including Britain and France, Poland's allies, that the soviet union would remain neutral in relations with other powers.

In a radio broadcast Molotoff declared treaties between Russia and Poland "have ceased to operate" because Poland no longer existed as a state after two weeks of German invasion.

He said the red armies would carry out their "sacred duty" of taking over the approximately 11,000,000 white Russians and Ukrainians in Poland. These minorities were Russia's before the post-war creation of Poland.

The British government, officially silent concerning the Russian move, was represented as more than ever determined to fight Germany to a finish.

British, French Silent.

There was no hint whether Britain and France, both pledged to preserve Polish independence, would regard the red army march as bringing Russia into the European war on Germany's side.

British newspapers called it "a stab in the back."

French reports said German reinforcements, apparently released from the eastern front by German successes in Poland, were pouring into western front fortifications.

France was worried about Rumania who holds the former Russian province of Bessarabia. Britain and France have guaranteed to help Rumania against any aggression.

Bulgaria Hopeful.

Both hopes and fears were raised in southeast Europe by Moscow's move. Bulgaria hoped it might lead eventually toward restoring to her territory lost in the World war. Conflicting desires for territory and fears of Russia were felt in Hungary.

Diplomats in Yugoslavia looked to Italy for some move which might prevent the spread of war.

Rumania's position was complicated by the presence of huge numbers of Polish refugees, officials and military units on her soil. The soldiers were disarmed, President Moscicki and Foreign Minister Beck were reported planning to take their government to London.

Italy remained enigmatic concerning her plans. Talk continued in capitals of other nations, however, that Premier Mussolini would propose a truce when he considered the time ripe.

BY PIERRE J. HUSS.

BERLIN Sept. 18—(INS)—Germany's campaign in Poland is "nearing its end," an official war office communique announced today as early contact between the Russian and German armies in eastern Poland was anticipated.

Concentration of reich air force and artillery units for "action elsewhere" — presumably against the French on the western front—was announced.

The Poles have for the most part been surrounded, decimated or lashed into disordered flight, military quarters said. The communique itself announced the complete encirclement of Lemberg (Lwow) and the fall of Lublin.

The communique, second of a day that bristled with claims of German conquest read:

"The Polish campaign is nearing its end after complete encirclement of Lemberg and the fall of Lublin.

"The German army has reached the line of Lemberg-Vlodzimierz, Brest-Litovsk and Bialystok, and has occupied the largest part of Poland.

"In the meantime, annihilation or capture of stray remnants of the Polish army is continuing.

Strongest Group Encircled.

"The strongest encircled group, amounting to one-fourth of the entire Polish army, is now jammed in a narrow area southwest of Vyzogrod, Bzura and the Vistula river. This force has been gradually dissolving since yesterday.

"On the western front there was no worth while activity. A German chaser shot down a French plane near Saarbrucken. The enemy made no air attacks upon reich territory yesterday."

A formal statement asserting that soviet Russia dispatched her army into Poland for the sole purpose of "restoring peace and order" was issued in Berlin today.

The statement said:

"In order to forestall any unfounded rumors concerning the respective tasks of German and soviet troops in Poland, the German government and the government of the U. S. S. R. declare that the actions undertaken by their troops do not pursue any aims which are contrary to the interests either of Germany or the soviet union, or which are opposed to the spirit and letter of the non-aggression pact concluded between Germany and the soviet union.

"On the contrary, the task of their troops consists in restoration of order and peace in Poland, which have been destroyed by collapse of the Polish state, as well as in assisting the Polish population to re-establish new conditions for their national existence."

Mrs. Ethelbert Nevin, Widow Of A Famous Composer, Admires Lincoln; Here To Testify In ASCAP Trial

Dedicated to her before their marriage, "Oh, That We Two Were Maying" has remained forever the favorite of Mrs. Ethelbert Nevin, as it was her composer-husband's.

So said Mrs. Nevin Monday morning during a brief respite from the ASCAP trial in Federal cour, in which she, as residuary legatee, is the only woman to testify for Gene Buck.

"That surprises you," she said, "as it surprises most people. My husband wrote it as a boy, but he never had another composition that pleased him more.

"Rosary" Best Liked.

"'The Rosary,' has the greatest popularity with the public, although my husband composed the music in three-quarters of an hour. He always paid much homage to Robert Cameron Rogers, who wrote the words."

It's closest rival in favor is "Mighty Lak a Rose," which Mrs. Nevin published after his death 38 years ago, when still a young man.

Mrs. Nevin came to Lincoln from "Arcady," her very beautiful estate at Bluehill, Me., which perpetuates the memory of one of the country's most sympathetic composers. Although he did not know it in life, for the Nevins divided their time between New York and foreign capitals, it is his burial place now. His widow, with her son, Paul, and daughter, Doris, reside there, surrounded by many of the things he treasured.

Always Loved Music.

As a girl, she sang, but Mrs. Nevin declares she always has been a "music lover, never a musician or a composer. Her work was to make it possible for Mr. Nevin to create. "Musicians are unique, a people apart," she said thoughtfully. "We had a marvelously happy married life, but I tried to keep the daily routine away from him. I never asked whether he preferred roast or fish—details of that sort worry a creative persons."

Mrs. Nevin has never quite made up her mind as to what the composer would thing of "Swing." She frankly does not like it, but considers it a phase in music from which composers will pass on "to something better."

"I know my husband would not have liked it really, for it is so alien to his work, but I never heard him say an unkind thing about any musician or his music. He admired and loved musical people.

Credit Where Due.

"He believed it wrong not to give credit for effort, for the desire for expression, whether or not it was in his metier."

Mr. Nevin usually composed away from the piano, only occasionally going to the instrument to try a musical phrase. And he never accepted an order for music. "What he did came from his heart," Mrs. Nevin states.

"I'm enjoying this trip so much, for I never had been this far west before. Your weather is delightful (and how nice she didn't come last week!)

"I always have found musicians together jolly and full of fun, and I'll regret going to New York, to my winter home."

formance the student delivers in college and the type of performance he gives on the job.

"In my day," Dr. Boucher said, "universities and colleges were something of country clubs, where many students did much playing and made a pretense of learning. Since that day, however, the business of education has become increasingly more genuine."

Education, he said, is something more than book learning. The complete program includes the proper development of personality, health and social learning. To accomplish the entire program satisfactorily students were urged to work and play hard, but to play intelligently.

"This is not merely a great day for you in starting a new experience," Chancellor Boucher stated. "It is also a great day for the University, for you are now being admitted into the great University of Nebraska family. You will forever be known as Nebraska graduates, and for that reason you are under obligation to that family."

The freshman convocation gave new students their first opportunity to meet the faculty, administrative officials, student workers, and the educational program of the University. Dr. E. S. Fullbrook, professor of marketing, presided. Robert Waugh, of Omaha, president of the student council, welcomed the new group, and songs were led by W. G. Tempel, with Frank Cunkle at the organ. Following the general program, students and members of the faculty adjourned for college convocations.

City Parks Tennis Tournament Finals

Champions were crowned Sunday in four events of the city's public parks tennis tournament. One final—men's doubles—remains to be decided. Sunday results:

Men's singles—Charles McNurlin beat Charles Fowler, 6-1, 1-6, 6-3, 6-2.
Women's singles — Katherine Kellison beat Anne Brown, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.
Mixed doubles—Anne Brown and Voris Peden beat Thelma Kihiro and Joe Stanton, 6-2, 6-3.
Women's doubles—Anpe Brown and Marian Mann beat Elaine Larson and Dorothy Ragan, 6-8, 7-5, 10-8.
In the men's doubles final, Voris Peden and Charles McNurlin will be pitted against Harry Ankeny and Walter Nye.

Weather Stays Mild

Warm, clear autumn days and cool nights were in prospect for Nebraska Monday and Tuesday, after a weekend of mild readings. In Lincoln the low was 54 and at 8 a. m. it was 59 Monday. The high Sunday was 86. Sidney's 47 was the coolest of the early reporting stations, while Burwell had 50. Skies were clear over the state.

Waltons Begin State Meeting

(Special to The Star.)

CRETE, Neb., Sept. 18—The morning session of Nebraska division of Izaak Walton league of America was feature by talks by the general manager of national headquarters in Chicago, Kenneth A. Reid, who talked on the purpose of the organization and outlined plans for a membership drive this fall.

Mildred M. Spann of Atkinson gave the annual report of the secretary-treasurer. Frank B. O'Connell, secretary of the game, forestation and parks commission spoke. Ward C. Betzer, Lincoln is presiding.

The afternoon program included a tour of the city and sports contests at Tuxedo park. Winners were to be awarded trophys and prizes at the Monday night banquet. Frank Tavis, president of Crete chapter, is convention chairman.

Telephone Rate Change At Julian Is Argued

The state railway commission held under advisement Monday following a brief hearing the application of the Lincoln Telephone company to provide dial service at its Julian exchange and offer free service from there to Nebraska City with an accompanying boost in rates.

Before the commission was a petition submitted by Jacob J. Epler in behalf of Julian business protesting the proposed plan because it does not include free telephone service between Nebraska City and Julian.

The new service, the company explained, would include these rate increases: business one party from $1.50 to $3.00 per month; residence one party from $1.25 to $2.00 per month; 10 party business and farm $1.15 to $2.25 per month, and residence 10 party from $1.25 to $1.75.

None of the petitioners appeared at the hearing.

Announce Marriage

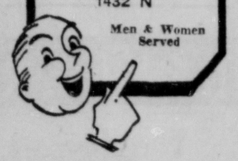

BEATRICE, Neb., Sept. 18 — Announcement has been made of the marriage of Rex Monsingo of Lewiston and Miss Joan Steinauer, which occurred last week in the chapel of the Catholic church at Steinauer. They will reside here where the bridegroom is engaged in business.

Wedding News Coupled With Story of How Commander And Mrs. Doyle Are Liked In Buenos Aires

OUR GLOBE trotting instincts came to the fore today—We have news from all over the world—Well, at least we have some from Buenos Aires, London—and Lincoln—what more could you ask?

We also offer for your approval a couple of little things along the romantic line — Of course you already know about the marriage of Miss Mary Quigley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Quigley of Valentine, to William H. Harrison of Washington, D. C., which was solemnized recently, — Mrs. Harrison, campus circles will remember, is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. They will make their home in Washington—

The Quigley-Harrison story was just a slight detour from our original thought which has to do with two former Nebraska co-eds — We learned about one of them from a San Antonio paper which told in its chatter column that a young and prominent San Antonio physician was interested in a girl in the east—The paragraph was concluded with—

"Maybe he hasn't told YOU —but he is hunting an apartment."

And we know, although YOU don't—that while the young lady happens to be in the east at present, she is a Lincoln girl, and was graduated from the University of Nebraska not too many years ago.

THEN CAME news about another engagement that is to be announced some of these days before long—The wedding, so we hear, is not to take place until early spring—and then the couple will go south to reside —The potential bride attended the Univeresity of Nebraska a few years ago and was exceedingly prominent and popular on the campus where she is affiliated with Alpha Phi.

SO MUCH for the cupiditis epidemic—

From Buenos Aires came some newspaper clippings today—One of them was a picture of Commander and Mrs. T. J. Doyle as they weer boarding ship, accompanied by a party of friends, to return to the States—The second clipping was a three column story with the head in large black type — "Those Charming People"—and every word had to do with Commander and Mrs. Doyle. We'll pick out pieces of it here and there and put them together so you may read what Buenos Aires really thought of the Doyles—

"Two of the nicest people in Argentina leave these shores today in the person of Commander and Mrs. Doyle...I have been warned against "writing them up" on the score that they are members of the Diplomatic Corps and you mustn't say anything nice about that crowd, but I brave the disdain of the peasantry—and the gentry—and desire to give them the send-off they deserve and so that the example they have set in their several years' residence here may not be forgotten.

"As naval attache to the U. S. embassy the commander has come into contact with the press on hundreds of occasions, invariably to the pleasure and satisfaction of all concerned. A sailor himself—he goes North to rejoin his ship prior to settling down in Washington, I believe—he knows all sides of life, is just as courteous to the understrapper as to the bigwig, his the hand that smooths out the rough spots when on occasion snooty folk unaware of the local customs of the port tread on our toes—if you'll forgive the mixing of the metaphors.

"He may not be aware of it, but around most newspaper offices, whenever anybody wants anything at the U. S. embassy, he's told "Go see Commander Doyle." "But I don't know him," is sometimes the reply, to which we say, "You will." And when the tyro comes back it's always with the same yarn, "Say, he's a regular guy."

"Mrs. Doyle? Perhaps I can explain her best by saying every man get the Mortgage he deserves. The old Spanish proverb or it may be Criollo—is to the effect that "Dios los crean pero ellos se juntan." Sometimes they use that adape as a jest—this time it can be taken in earnest. "T." and "Jane" to their legion friends, you'll find one where the other is, which is right and proper even if it isn't so modern. Somehow or other you just couldn't imagine an affair with one and not the other, and if it hapens you know the other will be along soon, which makes the fiesta complete.

"The lady in the case is the most refreshing person this city has ever seen, in the diplomatic corps or out of it.

"And they leave us today to the loss of the American community, to say nothing of the British and the French and others, while they have just as many real friends among their Argentine hosts as among their own folk. And so it is doubtful whether any memoer of the diplomatic corps, or any private person, will be so universally missed as these very charming people."

OUR NEWS FROM London is from—guess who? B. Frank Watson who is still meandering around in foreign parts despite the war—

Mr. Watson drops a note after his arrival in London from France on September 8. "Many persons were stranded at Calais," Mr. Watson says. "In two days only ten persons went across"—and five of the ten included Mr. Watson and his four proteges, the Kraft boys. They had to take their chances on a British cargo boat carrying mail, and also had to sign a statement that they went at their own risk. All of the way across the channel, according to Mr. Watson, they had to remain seated on the top deck and the boat took a zig-zag course.

The Kraft boys (Kraft cheese) are sailing for the States on the S. S. Washington, but no mention was made of Mr. Watson's sailing date though he did say he was hurrying around to obtain a permit.

FROM NOW on our conversation concerns only the activities on the home field—

Today we found that Mrs. George G. Swingle was hostess to twenty-eight guests at a luncheon at the Lincoln Country club as a courtesy to her sister-in-law, Mrs. Paul R. Parrish of Denver, who stopped off for the week-end en route to her home from New York City.

The guests found their places at one table centered with a large crystal urn filled with Phillipinense lillies.

The afternoon hours were devoted to bridge.

ALONG THE line of country club topics we discovered that Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hinds had arranged for a no host dinner for the members of their dinner and bridge club Tuesday evening at the L. C. C.—and that ladies' bridge day will be as usual on Wednesday—with the annual closing tournament a week from Wednesday.

WE MEANT to tell you a few lines back—while talking of Mrs. Swingle's luncheon, that Mr. and Mrs. Swingle had some other house guests Sunday—Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Windle of Red Oak, Ia., who were just here for the WCC HH xz&?¼

READ IN the O. W. H., that Mr. and Mrs. Robert Samuel, formerly of Lincoln, have moved into their new home at 4812 Harney street, Omaha.

• • •

JUST HEARD that Raymond Bauer, jr., left Saturday evening for Rochester, N. Y., where he will work on his Bachelor of Music degree at the Eastman School of Music. Mr. Bauer was graduated from the University of Nebraska in June—

AND THAT reminds us that Victor Molzer, son of Prof. and Mrs. August Molzer who left last week for their new home in Laramie, Wyo., has gone to Philadelphia to resume his studies at Curtis Institute of Music.

UNDERSTAND that the feminine golfers at the Broadview club are having a "fancy dress and iron derby" tomorrow — "tomorrow" being Tuesday and the usual ladies' golf day. Mrs. James Easton, Mrs. H. E. Alder and Mrs. John Howe will serve as hostesses.

• • •

SOMEONE TOLD us that Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Ricketts are entertaining at an eightsome dinner this evening at their home. The guests will include the present officers of the Monday Night club, and also the officers of last year. It seems that some Monday Night club business is to be taken up after dinner.

Miss Zoanna Field Is Wed To Robert Fishbaugh

Miss Zoanna Field, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Field, of Shenandoah, Ia., became the bride of Robert Fishbaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Fishbaugh, sr., of Shenandoah, which took place Friday, September 1, at 10 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church in Shenandoah. The Rev. David B. Cecil officiated.

Miss Florence Crane, of Shenandoah played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Doris Starr, who sang a group of numbers.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Harold Remington, and Ann Longman was the little flower girl. Earl C. Fishbaugh, jr., was his brother's best man.

Following the reception, the couple left for the Black Hills and Estes park, before going to Shenandoah to reside.

Mr. Fishbaugh has attended the University of Nebraska.

George Baker Honored On Ninetieth Birthday

George W. Baker, who observed his ninetieth birthday anniversary Sunday, was honored at a no host picnic dinner at his home, with members of the family and a few old friends attending. The day also was the birthday of Willis and Wilma Moore, twin son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Moore, of Walton. Mr. Baker's great granddaughter, Barbara Anne Kruse, presented his gifts in a Mexican basket. Guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Kruse, Adams; and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cudahy, Walton.

Women's Clubs Of City Open Season

Membership Tea Of Lincoln Woman's Club Is Held Monday; Uni Club And W.C.T.U. Set Meetings

THE time had come for presidential ponderings of a summer and committee gatherings of early autumn to coagulate into club meetings, but with dust far from confined to its place beneath chariot wheels, it was impossible to get up marked enthusiasm for sessions on Egyptian art or Homo neanderthalensis.

But the club ladies have a way with them, and in the first week of the club year, heat, dust, wind, and dispositions tapered off into mildness, so that this week all goes forward with gusto. The club calendar assumes something of its winter plumpness, and the sound of the gavel is heard on the air.

Club is such an inclusive term, including the groups engaged in civic and social improvement. Therein are the general woman's clubs; patriotic, such as the D. A. R., and kindred groups; P. T. A.; study; business women's societies which gather for pleasure or for profit —to themselves or to others; educational. In this corner, which begins as a crack in early September and widens into a canyon of news as autumn turns into winter, we daily pass on our club tidbits, arranged, we hope, so that you can find your favorite at a glance.

THE WORKING week was young, when the Lincoln Woman's club had its first major gathering, the membership tea this afternoon at the First Christian church. The actual drive starts Wednesday. After the program, there was an interesting time, the friendship hour. The past presidents, Mesdames George Schwake, T. J. Doyle, E. L. Marty, A. A. Scott, and George Chatburn greeted the guests and chatted about the events of their administration. Tea was served in the late afternoon, with lavender and white introduced into the appointments. With this annual social event well done, local club officers and members look forward to more than the usual round of the club year. The Lincoln club is hostess to the forty-fourth annual convention of the Nebraska Federation of Women's club October 17, 18 and 19, and that means a month of increasing activity for Mrs. C. M. Sutherland, the Lincoln president, and her committees.

ALTRUSA HAS its initial meeting this evening, a dinner at the University club at 6:15 o'clock. Miss Mildred Biklen likewise begins her year's work as president. Reports of the international convention this summer in Portland and committees and committee members are to be appointed.

TUESDAY OPENS wtih a W. C. T. U. convention when representatives of the Lancaster county groups gather at the Y. W. C. A. The conference, at 10 o'clock, is preceded by a half hour meeting of the executive board. During the morning, reports will be made by the directors, local presidents, and county officers. Following the noontide prayer, the meeting will be resumed at 1:30, when Ray E. Rice will be the speaker. Lt. Richard Bennett of the Lincoln traffic bureau will show a talking film to demonstrate chemical tests for intoxication. Mrs. E. J. Oldt, evangelistic director, will be in charge of the devotions. Mrs. Charles Davis is president of the county group; Dr. Bertha Thompson, vice president; Mrs. Olive Barstler, recording secretary; Mrs. C. E. Burton, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. J. E. Bartley, treasurer.

MISS SADIE BAIRD, the principal, will talk on the school activities and objectives at the meeting of Elliott P. T. A. Tuesday at 2 o'clock at the school. Ensemble singing opens the program, and the pupils of Miss Bess Bowen will give a vocal number. Garden certificates to the youthful growers will be presented during the afternoon. During the social hour, the P. T. A. officers and the teachers will be introduced.

City Likely To Renew Compensation Policy

The council decided to renew its compensation policy with the Traveler's Insurance Co. for the coming fiscal year. The terms are as last year.

Belief was apparent among city officials Monday that the city council at the afternoon session would approve for another year a proposal by the Travelers Insurance Co., to carry compensation coverage on all city employes. It had not been determined at noon, whether the contract between the city and the Humane society would be renewed.

Renewal of the compensation insurance policy was believed necessary by officials of the legal department, to give the council needed advice before arriving at a conclusion on the city carrying its own insurance. The coverage now is being carried under a rider to the policy which expired September 1.

The proposal of the Travelers for the present fiscal year is on an estimated premium of $13,707, on a fluctuating basis of a minimum of $9,912 and a maximum of $21,657, governed by loss experiences. The amount between the estimated premium can be written for an added amount depending on where it is written.

In the event that Lloyds of Lindon can do business in this state it will be about $900. If not, it will vary up to $1,892. A year ago the premium was $13,843.85, with re-insurance against more than the maximum amounting to $817.50. Favorable experiences during the year reduced the estimated maximum from 12 to 15 per cent. A resolution to continue the policy for another year has been prepared by the legal department.

County Will Start WPA Projects Soon

Weaver Outlines Work He Hopes To Accomplish In Coming Months

Work will probably start soon on some of the $455,078.63 WPA "blanket" application covering road construction and bridge work for Lancaster county, which was last week approved by President Roosevelt, County Engineer L. W. Weaver said Monday.

The federal funds will go chiefly for labor on the various projects, Weaver said, pointing out that the labor bill is figured at $368,939.95. The county share, or $251,484.37, which would bring the total cost to $706,653, will be used for materials, equipment and rentals.

Weaver said that he plans to do 60 miles of grading on county roads, and incidental clearing and grubbing, and install driveway pipe culverts an dsmall roadway pipe culverts. The work will be scattered over many parts of the county.

Paving Plans.

He also expects to put in about 10 miles of stabilized rock and asphaltic concrete pavement. Part of this will be on North Fourteenth street, and the rest will be on other main traveled roads into Lincoln.

Continuation of operations at the Roca rock quarry are also included in the plans, as rock is to be obtained there for the 60 miles of graded roads.

Included, too, will be the construction and improvement of a number of concrete box culverts, at various places over the county, on the 60 miles of road.

The application does not cover the work planned in connection with revamping the entrance to the state penitentiary, as a part of that work will be handled by a special application.

Curiosity Kills Skunk

FORT CROOK, Neb., Sept. 18 —(AP)—Curiosity killed a skunk at the Pete Hansen farm one mile south of here. The wood pussy poked its nose into an empty tin can and couldn't get it out. Death came from starvation.

NEW 4 LANE HIGHWAY TO LINCOLN

IN AN increasing volume discussion in Lincoln in recent weeks has centered upon west O street highway. That road between Lincoln and Emerald, an 8-mile stretch, was the first bit of hard surfaced highway constructed in this section of the state.

It was constructed years in advance hundreds of miles of paving and during each year the task of providing adequate highway facilities has been carried on there has been an improvement in methods of construction. The west O Street road was well-built and has given good service. It had to be well built in order to stand up under the pounding it has taken during all these years of heavy automoble and truck traffic.

But it is old, and it is worn, and the brick of which it was constructed no longer is used extensively in highway building. In the plans of the state highway department, it ought to be replaced but instead of a 2 lane road the highway should be a 4 lane stretch. No road leading through Nebraska carries heavier traffic. Two highways which reach across the entire state, and over which thousands of people travel, converge upon it and add to the congestion. While consideration is being given to the improvement of the main arteries of travel over the state to facilitate travel and to eliminate accidents, no stretch of highway in Nebraska deserves greater attention. Its roughness adds to the annoyance and discomfiture of thousands of Nebraskans who use it for travel and for business, and as the one highway carrying the greatest bulk of traffic to the capital city of Nebraska, it should receive early attention.

Lindbergh's Service

NOT SOLELY what Colonel Lindbergh said in an address to the American people exhorting them to keep out of war in Europe needs to be considered. There is common agreement in this country that in a sense of active participation America, American homes, American resources and American manhood should be spared.

But all that Colonel Lindbergh said was that Europe and war itself are frightful messes, and everyone knows that. How shall we keep out? An ostrich sticking his head in the sand never saved his neck when a hunter came into sight. All he did was to lose his neck and tail feathers.

Even Colonel Lindbergh's technical knowledge of the aims and of the affairs of European nations is seriously open to question. He did not serve any good will mission in a recent discussion of the strength of the soviet air force. His statements were resented in Russia, and misled both the French and the British. But Russia is in Poland today in league with Germany.

As a citizen and as an aviator Colonel Lindbergh is entitled to the adulation which the American people heap upon him. The quickest way for him to destroy himself in the position which he has occupied is to mix into matters with which he has had no contact.

The Pheasant Blackout

THE WAIL of the unhappy huntsman is a loud and mournful one. That wail can be heard these days from sportsmen in the bloc of central Nebraska counties who feel the state game, forestation and parks commission has done 'em wrong.

While it is patently true that it would be impossible to make a decision that would not leave some hunters feeling rather abused, it is also obvious that the blackout on pheasant hunting covers a whale of a lot of ground in central Nebraska.

The bloc of counties closed includes Hall, Merrick, Nance, Boone, Wheeler, Greeley, Howard, Valley and Loup. Consequently, there is at least some justice in the plaint of sportsmen in those areas that at least one or two of the counties should have been left open.

It is surprising the amount of logic a sportsman with injured feelings can summon to support his grievances. For one thing, it is pointed out that there is little cover and even less feed to carry birds in those areas through the winter. For another, it is complained that many hunters have neither the time nor the money to take three or four days off and drive a considerable distance to an area where pheasant hunting is permitted. There is some merit in both of these arguments.

However the state commission is undoubtedly trying to pursue the course which seems wisest and which will bring the best hunting in the long run. But many hunters can scarcely be blamed if they haul out the crying towel.

Ridding The Seas Of Submarines

IN THE last ninety days of the World War, the British navy did more to sweep the seas of submarines than in all the other years of conflict.

There must be some surprise that all of the information and experience gained more than twenty years ago finds the British so unprepared to meet the sting of an attack by underseas craft. The success of Germany's submarine forces in a brief period cannot be minimized. They cannot be expected to win a war for Germany, quickly, or in a long drawn-out struggle, but they can make it most uncomfortable for the highly-touted British navy, and they are succeeding in that to a remarkable degree.

The most serious loss suffered was reported in the sinking of the British aircraft carrier, Courageous, a 22 thousand ton warship, launched more than twenty years ago, and hence antiquated in construction but nevertheless the loss of the Courageous must sting British pride.

POLAND'S COLLAPSE —AND NEXT?

SO MANY illusions have been dissipated in slightly more than two weeks of war in Europe. It was reported Monday, and no denial had been issued that the Polish government had fled to Rumania, Polish defense forces were fleeing across the Rumanian border, and the Polish republic of a brief 20-year career had crumbled.

Consider this in connection with the thoughts shared generally in the United States before German armies actually crossed into Poland two weeks ago last Friday, and Russia Saturday threw her might against the crumbling Polish defenses.

It had been heralded widely Poland had a fine army of 1½ million men; well-equipped for modern warfare, and well-trained. It, if it actually existed, folded up against the superior force of wheels and wings—flying infantry units in large numbers transported by motor lorries; mobile and irresistible tanks geared to cover ground with amazing rapidity; artillery transported on wheels which could be brought into action with lightning speed; and finally, skies filled with whirling planes, which rained a deadly hail of bombs and high explosives upon countrysides and cities.

Poland folded up, and the collapse of a nation of 33 millions of people in slightly more than a fortnight carries with it chilling shadow which must spread itself over the remaining small nations of Europe. There is Rumania, Bulgaria, Greece, a smaller Turkey, Hungary, a new Yugoslavia, and others.

RUSSIA incredibly has come west, when they said it could not be done, and for years it appeared that the dam against the westward spread of the Soviet nation would hold against the burning zeal of communism to extend itself. Germany not incredibly, is marching east, as a prelude to those days when the Greater Reich shall seek to thrust itself southeast, even as Bismarck dreamed in his day only to arouse opposition within his own country and to be forced to accept a policy of African colonization unwelcome to him. And Italy, where Mussolini came into power to stem the tide of communism, discovers a press controlled wholly by the fascist leader, commending Russia's agreement with Japan, and Russia's invasion of Poland for its partition.

Verily, this is the era of contradiction. The lion becomes clubby with the lamb, not to gobble up the lamb, but to exercise an affectionate shepherdship. The things that can not happen do happen and where they made no sense only a month or a day ago they seem to reflect the utmost rationality. For where force is the rule, insanity becomes reason.

BUT TODAY in Europe, if never again, a throb of sympathy, and an understanding of the plight of small nations. Their homes must contain tender associations. Their countrysides and their cities must represent their pride and their natual aspirations. Their habits and their customs furnish them with the only opportunity people have to give expression to living. But homes and lives, countrysides and cities, customs and habits, even their thoughts humble and drab as they may be, are threatened while the giants of Europe battle for mastery.

And among these peoples, the peoples of these tiny nations, nations for the most part smaller than the state of Nebraska, the meaning of war in Europe to them is overshadowed by the din and roar as the armies of powerful nations struggle against each other. The real sufferers are not confined to the great nations. In central Europe where a score of tiny nations have felt the scourge of war through centuries, a cloud more sinister than any casting its shadow on the modern world has appeared.

WITH POLAND dsposed of, what next? Shall it be Rumania? Shall it be Yugoslavia? Shall it be Latvia, Finland, Denmark, Holland, or Belgium? After Rumania, a few months or a few years ahead, shall it be Bulgaria, or Hungary, or ancient Greece, where the Spartans battled?

It has seemed for more than a year that the statesmen and nations of Europe for understandable reasons have refused to look facts in the face. The world, for that matter, refuses and has refused to look fact in the face. The doctrine of aggression and force is an old one, from which civilization throughout its long march, never has seemed to be able to shake itself loose. Men have been talking aggression and force since totalitarianism came to claim three-fourths of the surface of Europe. That issue may be pushed aside by people who properly hate war, and may be blotted out by the thunder of guns and the carnage of the battlefield but it still is there, and it will be there so long as men and governments preach force and practice aggression. That is the only issue a peace offer can inject.

The Stark Candidacy

GOV. LLOYD C. STARK of Missouri has announced his candidacy for the United States senate to succeed Harry S. Truman. Stark should make an extraordinarily strong candidate, for he has shown himself to be a fighter of tenacity and resourcefulness. For many years a fight was carried on to oust Tom Pendergast and his machine from control of Kansas City and the boss is now serving a term in a federal penitentiary for income tax evasion.

Federal officers had charged that the police force in Kansas City was one of the worst in the United States, and it was Governor Stark who led the fight to remove the police department from local control and place it in charge of a state commission, such as at one time existed in Nebraska. The fight was successful, and reforms have been going forward, not to the liking of some of those concerned.

The people approve of fighters, where there is something to fight for, and developments have shown that there was plenty to fight for in Missouri. For that reason Governor Stark should make a very good showing in the primary and in the general election.

How Much To Believe?

THIS comment by a commentator, who hails Raymond Moley's Memoir, "After Seven Years," as a significant domestic event gets down to earth in the following:

"How much of Moley can one believe? Moley's method and personality give the answer. His details are accurate, for he heard everything, saw everything, and took copious notes. But he is an overwhelming egotist, not a little vain, and burning up with a rage and disappointment against his former associates which he does not even admit to himself These traits distort the broad outline of his story by a sort of refraction, as bath water will make your perfectly unsurprising foot look lopsided, pale greenish and ill attached to the leg above."

That is an unfortunate blending of colors. When Mr. Moley stuck his foot in, it did not look pale greenish but pink in calmer moods and flaming red when his own rage consumed him.

Let the details go as accurate. They are not nearly as important as their interpretation which Mr. Moley has placed upon them as is always the case in biography or in life.

Nebraska County Fair Attendance

THAT record crowd of 30 thousand which attended the Scotts Bluff's County Fair was something to sit up and shout about.

It should give the management of the Nebraska State Fair an opportunity to study their own problem. The total attendance for the week in Scotts Bluff was over 60 thousand visitors, which is the basis for satisfaction and pride.

And among the outstanding features were the activities of the 4-H club. At the close of the auction more than a hundred youngsters belonging to the 4-H clubs pocketed more than $6,000 for their prize calves, hogs, and lambs.

Most of the county fairs this year tell the same story of increased attendance, which should open the eyes of the state fair board in charge of Nebraska's exposition.

Wig-wagging With Burke

ONE NEBRASKAN, at least, will welcome the special session of congress. He is that strong, not always so silent, Senator Edward R. Burke.

Recent days have been tough on Senator Burke.

Unhesitatingly in the beginning he announced his support for the president's proposed neutrality legislation. Then he met up with some criticism, and latest reports from the front contained in a communique which Burke himself issued, he said he was of an open mind, and if he became convinced the administration's proposal would lead us into war, it would have his opposition.

The proposal is not a new one. It is the same legislation kicked around at the last congress when Senator Borah in opposing it said there would be no war in Europe.

The special session will relieve Senator Burke of any immediate setting up exercises in addresses before Nebraska audiences.

DIET AND HEALTH

TAKES 9 MEDICAL SECTIONS TO STUDY PATIENT IN 1939

The president of the American Clinical and Climatological Association made an interesting contrast in his presidential address between the record of a sick person in his hospital in 1908 and the record of a sick person in his hospital in 1939.

In 1908 he had a patient, 51 years of age, who had done heavy work all his life and had indulged liberally in alcoholic beverages. He had no history of infectious diseases which would lead to heart disease, but a short time before admission to the hospital he became short of breath. This symptom became progressively worse and any exertion would cause severe paroxysms of shortness of breath. He could not sleep at night because his heart beat so that he could feel it, and he was unable to lie flat in bed. His ankles became swollen and he developed a cough.

The record of his examination which included the use of the eyes and the ears of the physician, a thermometer and a stethoscope occupies 17 lines of type. The record of his treatment occupies 25 lines.

Similar Symptoms.

The patient in 1939 was 61 years of age and had similar symtoms. The record of his examination by means of the physician's eyes and ears, stethoscope and thermometer, is compressed into eight lines. But there follow five pages of records, such as this:

"The N.P.N. of the blood was from 32 to 50 mgm. per cent and the plasma C02 61 volumes per cent. The blood cholesterol varied from 194 to 235 mgm. per cent. The total serum protein was 5.7 per cent, the albumin 3.7 per cent and the globulin 2.2 per cent, the fasting blood sugar as 85 mgm. per cent. . . .

"The ventricular rate was 90, the P.R. intervals 0.22 of a sec. and the Q.R.S. 0.15 of a sec. R1 was notched, S2, S3 and S4 F were notched, T1 was inverted, T2, T3 and 74 F were upright. . . ."

Don't ask me to tell you exactly what this all means. I suppose in the course of time I could find out, but I am by no means sure from experience that I would know what it means.

The doctor seems to think that the examination in 1939 is greatly superior to the examination in 1908. He says "that the goal of a future science of internal medicine is the complete understanding of the mechanism of all diseases."

Studied by Sections.

He notes that in the examination of the patient in 1939, the patient was studied by the division of physiology of the circulation and of the physiology or respiration, which consists of two sections. The chemical study was conducted by five sections in the hospital. The constitutional clinic had two sections, which consisted of one study the physical condition of the patient and one to study the mental attitude.

To my mind, however, the one doctor who studied the patient in 1908 had a better understanding of the human being who lay in bed sick than all the nine sections which studied the patient in 1939.

After all, the most sensitive instrument for examining a human being is the mind and the understanding of another human being. All the instruments in the world and all the laboratories are not going to supplant the doctor at the bedside.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in the care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks Reducing Diet", "Indigestion and Constipation", "Reducing and Gaining", "Infant Feeding", "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes", "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

His Majesty

E'en in a democratic land
True majesty you may command.
—Old Mother Nature.

Never will Paddy the Beaver, or Mrs. Paddy, or the young Beaver who watched the great fight on the shore of their pond forget that terrible scene. It was terrible because of the size of the fighters and the rage in which both were. They were Flathorns the Moose and another bull moose, younger but almost if not quite as big. And they were fighting for the love of a lady, Mrs. Flathorns, who was standing where she could see all but was herself unseen. The three Beavers didn't know what the fight was about. They didn't know that it was jealousy that was filling the two great fighters with such fury. But Mrs. Flathorns knew. Yes indeed she knew. The lady always knows.

Back and forth, this way, that way, around and about, lunging, clashing their great antlers together, falling to their knees, struggling up again, grunting, snorting, now and then driving a sharp point into yielding flesh, the great Moose struggled with neither getting an advantage. So evenly matched were they that it seemed that they might fight until both would have to stop because too tired to continue.

But Flathorns was older in experience as well as in years. Every fall since he got his first horns he had fought all rivals who came his way. He was the victor of many battles. He was marked with many honorable scars. He knew every trick. He knew how to husband his strength and how to take advantage of every opportunity. And so at last, when he saw an opening, he caught the other off balance and sent him crashing to the ground. Like a flash Flathorns was on the other, striking with his fore feet, thrusting with his antlers. It was with difficulty that the other could at last scramble to his feet.

It wasn't cowardly to run away

He had no chance to turn and get set to receive the attack head on. He was beaten and he knew it. His one thought was to get away. He must run away. There was nothing else to do. Either he must run away or be killed. Yes, sir, he must run or be killed. Flathorns was in such a rage that he would not be satisfied with just defeating his rival. Retreat would have to be ignominious flight. There was no help for it.

And so the defeated one, wounded in body and still more in pride, plunged away into the blackness of the woods, with Flathorns charging after him for a little way, just far enough to make sure that the other would keep on going until he was far away. The latter felt keenly that he was disgraced by this hasty, headlong retreat. He wasn't. He was not in disgrace at all. It wasn't cowardly to run away. He had fought a good fight. He had fought his best. He simply had met some one who was a little better than he, a little more than a match for him. But he knew that in the eyes of Mrs. Flathorns there was no longer admiration for or interest in him, and it was for her that he had battled. He had lost the battle, and in so doing he had lost all chance of winning her, of taking her away from Flathorns.

And this was true. Had he won and put Flathorns to flight Mrs. Flathorns would have bestowed her admiration and affections on him just as she was now ready to bestow them on Flathorns. You know there is something thrilling in being fought over and for. So now Mrs. Flathorns, who from among the midst of the blackest of the Black Shadows among the trees had watched the battle, had eyes only for the victor who was now returning, arrogantly crashing his way back to the battleground on the shore of the pond.

Out he strode, standing full in the moonlight. His head was crowned with great antlers. To his great strength their weight was as nothing. In no sense could he be called handsome, but in his appearance was true majesty. For the time being he was undisputed lord of the wilderness and well he knew it. As he stood there on the shore, huge, black in the moonlight, he was truly magnificent. Even Puma the Cougar and Tufty the Lynx grudgingly admitted this.

Mrs. Flathorns sighed heavily. It was a love sigh. She called softly. For a moment longer His Majesty stood there in the moonlight. Then he disappeared in the blackness of the woods to the lady for whom he had fought.

THE STATE FAIR

Alliance, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Your editorial "Only Skin Deep" hits the state fair nail smack on the head. People interested in agriculture in other parts are thinking in like terms.

Last year while in Nova Scotia, I picked up its report for 1936 of the department of agriculture. On page 9 under "Legislation" occurs the following:

"Chapter 17—An act to amend chapter 64 of the Revised Statutes, 1923, "The Agriculture Act." This act provides that no games of chance shall be permitted on the grounds at any annual exhibition held in the province.

This legislation was introduced and passed following representations by a large body of citizens who think that entertainment at exhibitions should be on a higher plane than heretofore. As these were agricultural and industrial exhibitions, it was thought that the questionable type of amusement to be found in a circus should be eliminated."

The support of a large number of decent-minded and straight-thinking people is being lost by the tactics of the fair board. The support of the other kind does not go very far in "agricultural and industrial exhibitions."

DEAD LOSS

Smithfield, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Many high class daily papers published in the United States will not accept liquor advertisements. The newspapers see the liquor business as should the individual, as a source of more loss than profit and hence refuse to sell space in their papers for liquor advertisements.

Plain, honest figuring will sustain the truth of the statement that liquor selling is a loss to the state above the gain.

A fine young man upon reading a report of money the state receives from the sale of beer and liquor exclaimed right off he thought Nebraska had an excellent liquor law. Right in his own little community by close, straight figuring the liquor business was a loss in money, morals, health, and deaths.

The writer closes this letter with a good definition of personal liberty. It is the free action of one's mind unhindered. The drinking of liquor or beer clouds the mind and the actions of the muscles. The individual does not have the free actions he had before drinking alcoholic beverage.

FISHING FACILITIES

LINCOLN, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: To Bill, Dale and Dad, may I suggest the next time you write in answer to my letter, you sign your full names, so I may get in touch with you in order that you may teach me, "how, when and where to fish." If fishing is so fine in Nebraska, I'm wondering why a person would fish "lots in the Minnesota lakes?" The following figures were obtained from the annual report of the Game Forestation and Parks commission for 1932, 1933, 1936 and 1937.

In the following eight western counties, Box Butte, Cherry, Dawes, Garden, Kimball, Morrill, Scottsbluff and Sheridan, 4,300,000 fish were distributed for the years 1932, 1933, and 1936. 1937 These eight counties have a population of 90,000.

For the following eight eastern counties, Butler, Cass, Gage, Lancaster, Saline, Sarpy, Saunders and Seward covering the same four years, 1 300,000 fish were distributed and these counties have a population of 225,000. More than twice as many people in the eastern counties and yet the western counties received 3,000,000 more fish than we did. We have some very fine rivers in these eastern counties too. Why can't we have more fish here?

For the year 1936, $169,365.86 was the total amount collected by the game commission; $2,026.67 was the commissioners' expense; $24,678.01 was administration, which includes secretary's office, salaries, printing, postage, publicity and educational work; $43,526.41 was law enforcement which includes salaries, travel expense purchase of automobiles and equipment, which amounts to $70,221.09. Then $19,809.62 was spent for the maintenance, repair and improvement of seven state parks which totals $90,030.71. This leaves $79,957.37 for fishing and game. In 1933 cost of administration was $17,000; in 1936 $24,000, or almost $7,000 more for 1936.

Calling All Dogs

By ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE

Old Time Dog Lore

In my kennel library is a faded book, more than a hundred years old, written in the first half of the nineteenth centuy by Dr. Edward Mayhew, a famed scientist. I am going to quote from an essay of his on The Dog. He writes:

"There is no animal so widely distributed as the dog. The like assertion could not be made of any other domesticated creature. In countries subjected to the extremes of heat and cold, in the centre of Africa and at the Northern Pole, the horse and other domesticated animals are absent. But the dog is there. Wherever Man is able to exist, the dog is represented.

"Some have declared the dog is descended from fox or wolf or jackal. But all domesticated animals have a disposition to return to their original formation, if left to become wild. Who ever heard of a dog, however neglected or however wild, becoming either a wolf or a jackal or a fox?

"Brought as it is into universal connexion with the human race, it is not a little strange that the dog should be so universally misunderstood. There is no quadruped more abused. Whether treated kindly or otherwise, he is made to suffer; more often from overindulgence than from the opposite."

JUST FOLKS

By Edgar A. Guest

CANNING TIME.

Along about September with the women making pickles
There's a tang of heavy richness which my palate always tickles.
Then the air is heavy-laden with the Orient's fragrant spices
And the kitchen holds temptation which the soul of me entices.

There are sages who will tell us life's a solemn sort of mission.
Joy is something they would banish neath the sternest prohibition
In their dreadful scheme of living (is this metaphor too silly?)
They've no place for mustard pickles or for currant jam or chili.

These philosophers of sadness are forever preaching sorrow.
Yesterday was filled with trouble and likewise will be tomorrow.
But along about September from the kitchen windows pouring
Comes the smell of jelly-making and my soul goes upward soaring.

Is it trifling to be happy when the grapes and "crabs" are stewing?
Is it childish to find gladness in the autumn's spicy brewing?
I will bet both Aristotle and the cunning Michiavelli,
Found this life enriched no little by their women's currant jelly.

BRAIN TWIZZLERS

By Prof. J. D. Flint

A lovely young lady who worked in a very fashionable jewelry store was invited to a very fashionable ball one time and, naturally she wanted to make an impression on the people she met there. As a result her vanity led her to a risky undertaking. She had access to the jewelry store because she was accustomed to opening the store in the morning and so was entrusted with the key. The evening of the ball she went to the store and quietly entered. She had in mind the new bracelets that had just arrived at the store and were the latest thing in jewelry. She knew where they were stored in large quantities but she also knew that there were two kinds of bracelets, and since she didn't dare have a light of any kind she pondered how to be sure to get a pair of the same kind by groping in the dark. She was afraid to take very many of the bracelets for fear that if her act were discovered she would be too deeply involved. How could she get her bracelets in the safest way according to these thoughts?

Native Bulgarian Missionary Thinks Rumania in Danger

Paul S. Rahneff, native Bulgarian missionary making a speaking tour of the United States, predicted that Rumania would be the next victim of the European rearrangement following the dissolution of Poland. Rahneff was in Lincoln to speak at the Lincoln City Wide Gospel Tabernacle.

Continuing further with his prognostication, Rahneff opined that Bulgaria would be forced to side with Germany and Russia, as would Hungary. On the other hand, Italy, by virtue of concessions in the Mediterranean sea, would join with the Anglo-French bloc.

Rahneff scored Chamberlain for a spineless attitude at Munich and the Franco-British assistance of Poland, who is being misled, he said. He blamed Germany's drive on Poland as the result of British attempts at encirclement.

Lincoln Girl Is Found Asleep On Police Station Steps

Although police were puzzled when they discovered a 19 year old girl, clad in cover-alls, sleeping on the steps of Municipal court at 3 o'clock Sunday morning, they were even more perplexed when they learned that she had a home in Lincoln.

When roused from her slumber, the girl gave a fictitious name and said she had run away from her home which she said was at a western Nebraska town. It was not until Sunday night when she revealed her true identity that she was turned over to a Lincoln relative.

When questioned by Detective George Norton who spotted her on the steps, the girl said she had hitchhiked from Lexington, Neb. She revealed her true name Sunday night and said she hadn't returned to her home because of family troubles. She had planned to ask for lodging at the police station but lost her nerve.

To Prosecute Boy Who Says Drowned Wife

Charles Garner, In Jail At Gering, To Be Taken To Missouri

GERING, Neb., Sept. 18—(AP)—A 19-year-old Missouri youth, who authorities said volunteered he pushed his pretty 17-year-old wife of 20 days into a water filled coal strip pit and watched her drown, paced his jail sell here today awaiting his return to Lamar, Mo.

Barton County Prosecutor J. Carroll Combs announced at Lamar he will ask extradition for Charles "Pug" Garner, who married Virginia Jean Collingham of York, June 12 after a week's acquaintance. She drowned in a pit near Liberal, Mo., July 2 and Coroner Dr. C. E. Duckett explained he gave a verdict o faccidental death because "there was no reason to believe otherwise."

The prosecutor said he probably will file a first degree murder charge against Garner and added Sheriff Chris Wattenbarger probably will leave in a day or so for Gering.

Gering Night Marshal N. N. Thompson recalled the boy walked into the Gering jail Saturday night, his 19th birthday, and asked for a place to sleep, then wrote out a statement he had slain his bride.

Result of Quarrel.

The statement related Garner and his wife were at Liberal visiting relatives and went to the pit to "cool off' on the hot Sunday afternoon.

They quarrelled about another man the girl went with before her marriage and she indicated she wanted to return to York, the confession said.

"I got mad and pushed her right into the water," Garner wrote. He said neither of them could swim. "I could have reached her easily, but I didn't try. I waited until she had gone down the final time, then I went to the top of the hill and called to some people who had been fishing."

The girl's death was found to be accidental after Garner told officials his wife fell into the deep water. Garner accompanied his wife's body back to York.

Chief of Police Otto Sorenso reported the husky, 180-pound youth who carried his dead wife's picture in his knapsack, obviously felt relieved after "getting a load off my mind."

The youth was born and reared at Liberty, Mo. His wife was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Collingham of York. She is survived by her parents, three brothers, Kenneth, Richard, and Lewis, jr., all of York, and two sisters, Dorothy at York, and Mrs. Thomas Calvert, Beatrice, Nebraska.

Boy, 13, Kills His Grandfather

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 18—(AP)—Juvenile authorities called a conference today with State Attorney G. A. Worley to discuss the possibility of criminal action against a 13-year-old boy, held in connection with his aged grandfather's slaying.

Juvenile Probation Officer Paul Martens said the child readily admitted shooting Miles D. Baker, 61, because he "just was tired of being beaten."

Wreckage Of German Freighter Is Found In North Atlantic

Berlin Intimates That Ship Was Sunk By British War Vessel

BERLIN, Sept. 18—(AP)—Indications that British warcraft might be operating in the north Atlantic reached Berlin today in a report a Norwegian fishing vessel had found two empty lifeboats and wreckage of the German freighter Johannes Molkenbuhr near Trondheim, Norway.

(Lloyd's Register lists the Johannes Molkenbuhr's home port as Hamburg, Germany, and its tonnage as 5,294.)

The report said the sea was calm, and there was no reason why the freighter should have been wrecked unless she were torpedoed.

"Without a doubt, the lords of the British admiralty could give complete information about the matter," commented DNB, German official news agency.

FOUR KILLED IN AIRPLANE CRASH

YAKIMA, Wash., Sept. 18—(INS)—Motor failure was blamed by investigators today for the crash of a sightseeing monoplane Sunday in which four persons were killed and two seriously injured.

Just after the plane cleared the airport hangar it plummeted 250 feet into an orchard and burst into flames.

The four who died were pilot Steve Stussy; Elizabeth Taylor, 17; Junior McNeil, 17; and Marlan Misener.

The two who escaped death, but were critically injured, when a cabin door flew open as the plane struck, were Glen Moornier, 22, and Florence Stolz, 17. All lived in Yakima.

Youth Badly Injured

O'NEILL, Neb., Sept. 18—(AP)—Leroy Wernke, 18, is in a serious condition in a hospital here with a back injury. He was found on a highway near here Saturday night and officials said they believed an automobile ran over him.

Four Ministers And 11 Deacons Are Ordained

... BY METHODISTS

Youth Council Selects Officers; New Church Union Celebrated

Four ministers were fully ordained by the Nebraska Methodist conference Sunday afternoon at one of three services held during the day at Trinity church.

The new ministers are: The Rev. Kenneth L. Downing of Lincoln; the Rev. Leonard A. Fishel, Brock; the Rev. Merrill R. Willis of Auburn and the Rev. Delbert J. Sampson of Madison, N. J.

The ordination service where 11 deacons and six elders were also named was a highlight of the day's conference program. Other services included the morning worship conducted by Bishop William C. Martin of Omaha, and the evening services held in celebration of the new Methodist union. Dr. Loren M. Edwards of Colorado Springs, was the evening speaker. Deacons ordanied at the afternoon service included:

LOCAL DESIGNATION—Harold S. Baker of Valley; Jennie F. Brubaker of Lincoln; George E. Danskin, Leonard A. Fishel of Brock; Vaughn E. Ham of Denver; Herbert W. Jackman of Boston and Marie Danielson.

SEMINARY RULE—Leo W. Hamilton, Lowell D Johnes and Almon E. Moon, all of Evanston, Ill., and Melvin R. McGaughey of Boston. Seminary rule deacons to be odrained elsewhere included Fred N. Anderson of Esmond, Ill., Leon E. Keys and Max O. McGamley, both of Boston.

ELDERS NAMED—Kenneth L. Downing, Lincoln; Delbert J. Sampson, Madison, N. J.; H. Preston Childress, Boston, and Merrill R. Willis, Auburn, all seminary rule; Paul E. Martin, Macon, graduate, and Margaret Marion Holbert, Lebanon, local.

MINISTERS RECEIVED ON TRIAL — George E. Danskin, E. Allan Magill of Carroll, Don Springer of Eagle, and Robert B. Wylie of Paxton.

Youth Council Elects.

Meanwhile, the newly formed Nebraska Council of Methodist Youth announced the election of Rachel Stephenson of Grand Island, as its first president, who was chairman of the youth workers committee empowered to set up the council.

Max Kemling of Grant, was named vice president, and Shirley Bonham of Table Rock, secretary-treasurer. Chairmen of the various departments are: Ruth Anderson, David City, devotional; Kenneth Waddell, Melbeta, world friendship; Clyde Kleager of Alda, social action, and Luther Spraker of North Platte, recreational.

Lauds Spiritual Vitality.

At the evening service, Dr. Loren M. Edwards, the Colorado Springs pastor, told the conference the three former branches of the Methodist church should be congratulated on having "the spiritual vitality to unite."

Members of the conference filled Trinity church to capacity for the service which was held in celebration of the union of the Methodist Episcopal, Methodist Episcopal, South, and Methodist Protestant churches, effected last year at Kansas City.

Three urgent needs of this greater Methodist church were indicated by Dr. Edwards:

1. There should be more concern "for the energy to run this great machine than for its size."
2. "We need to have greater concern for patience in making necessary adjustments in this merger than for speed in completing the changes."
3. There should be concern for the "Divine Guiding Presence," which inspired the union, rather than for the personalities now in possession of leadership.

Oral declarations were read by Bishop William C. Martin, with response on the part of the assemblage, in the ritualistic part of the service which closed with the singing of Handel's Hallelujah chorus by the choir. It was a choir of 60 voices from the Methodist churches of Lincoln directed by Hugh T. Rangeler, with Mrs. Frank Darling at the organ and Paul LeBar at the piano. Dr. Roy N. Spooner lead the pastoral prayer.

Need For Faith.

Confidence and faith like that which sustained the early Christians "in their conflict with the forces of darkness in a pagan Empire," is the force which will sustain the church in these dark days, Bishop Martin declared Sunday morning.

These early Christians, he pointed out, were sustained by the belief that the Kingdom of Christ was coming and that it was coming in their day."

"We cannot believe in the coming of Christ in quite the same way that they believed it," he continued. "We can, however, believe that in the forces that are at work in every part of the world in behalf of justice and brotherhood, the kingdom of Christ is coming."

Dr. Floyd L. Blewfield, pastor of Trinity Methodist church presided at the service. Prior to the service, the annual conference Love Feast was held.

With only the ministerial alternates remaining to be voted upon, the conference had completed election of the following:

Ministerial delegates to the general conference at Atlantic City in April: Dr. Louis H. Kaub of Beatrice, Rev. E. Lamont Geissinger of Grace church, Lincoln, Chancellor B. F. Schwartz of Nebraska Wesleyan, Dr. E. C. McDade, superintendent of the Beatrice district, and Dr. Earl Raitt of Grand Island.

Lay delegates to the general conference: Judge Doane F. Kiechel of Nelson, Mrs. Frank G. Pennington of Wymore, Henry M. Greenslit and W. Edgar Gates, both of Lincoln, and E. S. Schiefelbein of Wahoo.

Ministerial delegates to the jurisdictional conference at Oklahoma City in June: Dr. Paul M. Hillman, Kearney; Dr. C. B. Hanskins, Omaha; Dr. Bert L. Story, Lincoln; Rev. C. B. Prouty, Scottsbluff; Dr. Frank E. Pfoutz, Hastings; Dr. Harry F. Huntington, Fairbury, Rev. F. C. Mills Lexington; and Dr. B. Johnson, North Platte.

The lay alternates: W. S. Rogers of Ainsworth; Wade Stevens, Beaver City; J. C. Birmingham, Beatrice; and Mrs. Henry Drake, Geneva.

Cashen New Head Of Lincoln Stereotypers

Cronley President-Emeritus Of Electrotypers Union; Cunningham Secretary

Retiring after more than 18 years as president of the Lincoln Stereotypers and Electrotypers union No. 62 (A. F. of L.), John Cronley was named president emeritus of the organization at a Sunday meeting at the Labor temple. Named president was Ray S. Cashen.

Howard E. Burt was elected vice president, and Frank Cunningham was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Cunningham has been secretary of the group since 1919. Named to the five man executive board to serve with Cashen and Cunningham, ex-officio members, were Donald K. Nelson, Leonard Theis and Burt. Samuel W. Large was named sergeant-at-arms.

Four Hurt In Car Upset Near Here

Three Omaha Negroes And Hitchhiker Injured Near Waverly

Four persons, including a hitchhiker, were injured when the open car in which they were riding overturned a half mile west of Waverly on highway No. 6 about 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. No one was believed seriously hurt.

Highway patrolmen reported that Matthew McCarrell, 41, colored, of Omaha, was driving the car which went out of control when a tire blew out. The machine crashed down into a ditch, came back onto the highway and overturned completely.

McCarrell suffered a scalp wound and cut over the right eye. His wife, Mary, 39, colored, received a severe cut below the eye, and another passenger, Josephine Mayfield, 33, colored, Omaha, sustained a back injury.

A hitchhiker, Hans Martens, of Pearl River, N. Y., who was riding in the machine, suffered a broken arm. A fourth Omaha negro, giving the name, Pickens, escaped unhurt, patrolmen said. The injured were treated at Bryan Memorial hospital, where they were taken by passing motorists.

Otto E. Richards, 69, Found Dead at Home

Retired Railroad Man Hanged Self In Basement Last Friday, Officers Say

Otto Emil Richards, 69, retired railway man, was found dead Sunday morning, hanging by a rope in the basement of his home, 1235 Van Dorn street. He had been dead for two days.

The body, suspended from the neck by a rope attached to a joist, was discovered about 10 o'clock by a neighbor, W. F. Estes, 2801 South Thirteenth street.

Deputy County Sheriff Cecil Ward, who acted as coroner, said the only message left was scribbled on a nearby table with chalk. It read, in part: "Oh my head... no one to help."

Richards was last seen alive Friday, and a Friday evening paper which had been left at the doof of the home was untouched. Estes, who knew Richards well, told Ward that a light was burning in the basement of the Richards home when he returned home shortly after midnight, Friday.

Ward learned that Richards was to have been admitted to Tabitha home in the near future. He had done part time work for John Petersen, 1010 Peach street. Ward said Petersen interpreted the scribbled note which was written partly in foreign language.

Richards, who lived alone, was preceded in death by his wife, Ella, who died in 1935. A nephew living in Chicago survives.

Funeral services were held Monday morning at the grave in Wyuka with Rev. W. P. Hill officiating.

German Refugee Is Ordained As Priest

Bishop Kucera Conducts The Ceremony For Rev. Henry Engenhorst, Sunday

Rev. Henry Engenhorst, a German refugee, was ordained into the diocese of Lincoln Sunday morning at St. Elizabeth hospital by Bishop Louis B. Kucera. Rev. Engenhorst came to the United States last October, needing but one semester of seminary training for his ordination and attended the St. Paul, Minn., seminary.

The bishop was assisted by Msgr. C. J. Riordan, Msgr. Maurice W. Helmann, and Rev. Thomas Healy. Msgr. L. V. Barnes also participated.

Not yet assigned to a charge, Rev. Engenhorst left Sunday afternoon for a short vacation and on October 1, will sing his first solemn mass at the church of a friend in Winstead, Minn. He will return to Lincoln October 5 for duty.

Mississippi had more farms, according to the 1930 census, than California, Oregon and Washington combined.

Ainsworth High Coach Takes Job at O'Neill

O'NEILL, Neb., Sept. 18—(AP)—Donald H. Anderson, Ainsworth high school athletics coach for the past four years, has been elected coach of O'Neill high school, it was announced today. Anderson assumes his duties here today.

At Ainsworth, his football teams won 50 of 60 games and his basketball teams the past two years competed successfully in the state tournament, being the class A runner-up in 1938. Anderson succeeds Elmer Stolte, who resigned to accept a position in Illinois.

YESTERDAY'S STARS.

Alex Kampouris, Giants, and Joe Medwick, Cardinals — Each hit a double to score winning run in doubleheader divided by identical 2-1 scores.

Hank Greenberg, Tigers—His twenty-ninth homer in eleventh inning gave Detroit victory over Senators.

Thornton Lee, White Sox, and Jim Tabor, Red Sox—Former pitched three-hitter in first game; latter slapped two doubles and a single to lead 16-hit attack in second contest.

Joe Gantenbing, Athletics, and Lou Boudreau, Indians—Former's pinch single bated in two runs to beat Bob Feller in one game; latter hit triple and single to bat in four runs in nightcap.

Jim Ripple and Luke Hamlin, Dodgers—Former poled three hits and drove in two runs in first game; latter pitched five-hitter in afterpiece.

Paul Derringer and Harry Craft, Reds, and Eddie Majeski, Bees—Derringer's expert pitching overcame six errors by teammates and, with help of Craft's double, scoring winning run, he bagged his twenty-second victory; Majeski doubled two runs across to start Boston to triumph in second game.

George Scharein, Phillies, and Arky Vaughan, Pirates—Former's three hits led successful attack in first game; Vaughan hit home run, double and single as Pittsburgh took nightcap.

Don Heffner and Howard Mills, Browns—Heffner batted in three runs with double and single in first game; Mills scattered six hits in second contest.

RIGGS TOPS OF RACQUET GAME

Triumphs At Wimbledon, Forest Hills Earn Him Rating As Best

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—(INS)—Bobby Riggs today occupies the niche in tennis history that was filled in the past by Budge, Perry, Vines, Tilden and men of their standing. At the age of 21, he holds both the Wimbledon and American national tennis championships, as a result of his decisive victory over 19-year-old Welby Van Horn, the sensational Los Angeles youth, who fought his way past Elwood Cooke, Wayne Sabin and Australia's Jack Bromwich to the final.

Top Man of Tennis.

After crushing Van Horn, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4, in a Sunday match almost devoid of spectacular incidents, Riggs stood forth as the outstanding claimant to the world's championship — his year clouded only by the defeat at the hands of Adrian Quist in the Davis cup matches with Australia. The sharpness which was lacking when he opposed Quist was always in evidence against Van Horn.

BOBBY RIGGS.

"Welby showed during the tournament that he is coming along fast," said Riggs, "but he is not a great player yet. He needs more work on his backhand."

Engaged to College Co-ed.

Van Horn and Riggs both left today for Los Angeles, where they will compete in the Pacific Southwest tournament. Bobby announced after the match that he is "practically engaged" to Miss Katherine Anne Fischer, a junior co-ed at Northwestern university, who has been his constant companion at the last few tournaments in the east. He didn't know when they would wed.

Grid Game On Coast Has Swinging Fists

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18—(INS)—A scrappy football traveling squad was enroute back to St. Mary's university at San Antonio, Texas, today after trouncing an overrated University of San Francisco team, 7 to 6.

The rattlers from Texas played the local team off its feet in their season opener, punctuated in the fourth quarter by a fist fight.

Captain Buren Brown scored the St. Mary's touchdown in the second period, climaxing a 40-yard drive by diving over the one-yard line. Backfieldsman Rene Mouton scored the valuable deciding point.

The fist fight was stopped by officials when they ejected Fred Haley, 210-pound U. S. F. tackle, from the game.

SEMI-PRO TITLE TO PUERTO RICAN CLUB

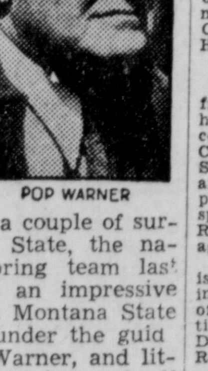

SAN JUAN, P. R., Sept. 18—(INS)—by defeating the Duncan, Okla., Cementers twice yesterday, 5 to 3 and 5 to 4, the Guyama team, Puerto Rican champions, today emerged as the first world's semi-pro baseball championship team. The Cementers won the U. S. title at the national semi-pro congress. The win victory in a double header gave the Guyama team five of the seven games.

Football Crowds In To Claim Spotlight

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—(AP)—College football, which seems to be infringing more each year upon the rights and privileges of the baseball season, starts its first big movement toward capturing the sports world this week.

Real Firing This Week.

Already a few tentative thrusts have been made, including the inevitable upsets, but next Friday and Saturday there will be real action. While the conservative east and mid-west hold off another week or two, a couple of dozen leading institutions of the south and southwest and a few of the Pacific coast are due to play.

POP WARNER

The preliminaries last Friday and Saturday brought a couple of surprises. San Jose State, the nation's highest scoring team last season, rolled up an impressive 35-0 count against Montana State in its first game under the guiding hand of Pop Warner, and little Louisiana Normal bumped off Centenary,15-0. An even bigger surprise came yesterday when St. Mary's of San Antonio, Tex., conquered the big, highly-rated team from the University of San Francisco, 7-6

San Jose Goes Tonight.

San Jose, incidentally, plays its second game tonight against Texas Arts and Industries and then meets San Francisco Saturday.

The week's big business begins Thursday when Vanderbilt, preparing for a major tussle with Rice 10 days later, warms up against little Tennessee Tech. Two other Southeastern conference teams, Florida and Mississippi State, play Saturday afainst Stetson and Howard, respectively.

Twelve of the 15 Southern conference members are listed for action, which includes conference title tilts between North Carolina and The Citadel, North Carolina State and Davidson and South Carolina and Wake Forest. Furman, Clemson, Virginia Military, Virginia Tech, Richmond and William and Mary take on lesser foes. Virginia, former conference member, plays Hampden-Sydney, while Centenary tries a comeback against Hardin-Simmons of Texas.

Aggies of Two States.

Biggest game on the Southwestern front pits Texas A. & M. against Oklahoma A. & M. of the Missouri Valley conference. Arkansas leads off with Central Oklahoma Teachers, while little St. Mary's meets Daniel Baker. Arizona and Texas Tech, Border conference aces, play Pomona and Texas Mines, respectively. Brigham Young leads the Rocky Mountain "Big Seven" into action against Arizona Teachers of Flagstaff.

On the west coast, Washington State is the first conference team to play, meeting Gonzaga. Amos Alonzo Stagg's College of The Pacific team starts Stagg's fiftieth season of coaching against South Dakota, while Loyola of Los Angeles plays Redlands.

Mid-western preliminaries include Iowa State of the Big Six against Coe and Detroit against Western Michigan Teachers. The best pairing of a baker's dozen in the east is Providence against Rhode Island.

Nix For Playoffs.

ONE and only sports topic hereabouts provokes the inevitable query:

What manner of football team will be carrying the Cornhusker banner?

Will Nebraska have the goods to regain its lost prestige as leader in the Big Six title race or will it have another of those so-so seasons, merely being a runner-up?

These and similar interrogations are on almost every tongue, to which this column—at the moment—can give no definite reply. Neither can Major Biff Jones, headman of football affairs in the Cornhusker camp, nor any member of his staff of helpers.

The explanation being that the first week of fall practice, hampered by a heat wave vastly more appropriate in mid-July rather than September, has been productive of as satisfactory results as the major had a right to anticipate, but the squad as a whole has gone so little of the required route of preparation that no sensible estimate of the Cornhuskers' possibilities could be ventured at this writing.

THE workouts to date, however, have wrought a full share of surprises of the pleasing sort mingled with disappointments. As to the latter:

Pre-season prospects indicated that Nebraska would face the fire of stiff competition with a line layout ample to the point of being formidable all along the forward wall.

This forecast is today subject to possible amendments, inasmuch as the present uncertain eligibility of Royal Kahler and Ralph Whitehead, a pair of rip-roaring tackle candidates, and a knee injury suffered last week by George Seeman, veteran end, have served to cloud the Cornhusker picture.

Until it can be assured that Kahler, Whitehead and Seeman will be available, it would be gross deception on the part of any Nebraska prophet to proclaim that the Husker line will measure up to pre-season expectations.

GETTING away from the gloomy side of things and turning to the pleasing, even a professional pessimist couldn't question the statement that the backfield prospects have perked up amazingly during the first week's workouts.

This was in evidence during Saturday's climactic scrimmage test, in which a husky pair of Husker sophomores—Bob DeFruiter of Lexington and Wayne Blue of Tecumseh—displayed so much ball-lugging ability as to justify the forecast that the two of 'em have the football stuff to go places in an important manner during their three years of service in Nebraska trappings.

As for the approaching campaign, it must be admitted that DeFruiter and Blue are facing the demands of brushing up on defensive assignments, but in the offensive department the Lexington boy and the Tecumseh husky surely will make their presesce manifest.

AS FOR backfield toilers of previous varsity experience, it seems to be in order to predict that Harry Hopp, Herm Rohrig, Roy Petsch, Walter Luther and George Knight are in line to enjoy a season of increased prosperity. Every member of this quintet stacks up today as an important cog of the Cornhusker offensive machine.

The forward passing and pass-catching problems apparently indicate a state of uncertainty. George Porter, Denver boy, is the most proficient passer and punter of the backfield candidates, but it would add immensely to the Nebraska outlook if Porter were able to pick up a bit of beef and speed.

Of the pass-snatchers, Bob Kahler, transferred from an end station to the backfield, is the cream of the Cornhusker crop. Other efficient grabbers of forward flips must be developed during the next two weeks if Nebraska is to make a favorable showing in aerial football against the Indiana Hoosiers in the season's inaugural at Bloomington.

STORM clouds blanketed the territory of the Western baseball league last week-end, following a press association tale, published under a Norfolk, Neb., date, which quoted League Prexy J. R. Carter, a Norfolk man, as proclaiming his intention to award the 1939 pennant to Norfolk, regardless of the pennant playoffs result.

As might have been expected, managements of the Sioux City and Lincoln clubs, survivors of the first playoffs, were poised for a declaration of war on the top man of the league, but all is peaceful now; Sioux City, which disposed of Lincoln in the finals, actually gets the championship bunting, with no strings attached.

President Carter's explanation of a snarled situation is satisfactory to all parties concerned. His version is that when the Cowboys downed the Elkhorns in the first playoff, a veteran player of the Norfolk team mentioned—in the league president's presence—the fact that the Elks, though they copped the 1938 championship, never had been rewarded with a flag.

"THEN and there," President Carter personally informed this column, "I promised to give the Elkhorns a pennant, but it necessarily would have to be a 1938 pennant, as a special league rule, adopted last spring, specifically provided that award of the 1939 flag would go to the winner of the Shaughnessy playoffs, which this year is Sioux City. Although the Norfolk club topped the league during the regular season by a comfortable margin, it couldn't claim the pennant because of the special rule."

The untrammeled truth of the baseball situation in minor league circles is that the Shaughnessy system of awarding pennants is under fire more or less all along the line. The only serious argument in favor of the playoff plan is that it gives the clubs and players an opportunity to drag in some extra money as a climax to the regular season.

As an offset to that point, experience has proved that when any club fronts the parade during a regular season, its fan followsrs quickly work up a justifiable grouch if their favorites are shunted off the track in a subsequent playoff and some other club bags the bunting.

THE playoff nuisance might have its good points in event split seasons are the rule, thus setting up the pins for a legitimate pennant playoff between the winners of the two splits, but it doesn't make baseball sense when a one-season schedule produces a winner which ultimately is denied championship rating because of losing out in a playoff.

Any number of instances might be cited in which injustice has been done a legitimate pennant winner. The Pacific Coast league possibly is most notorious of all. Two years ago, Los Angeles headed the regular season, but went bump in a playoff. Last year was Sacramento's turn. This year, Seattle's head is on the playoff block.

In the American association race of last year, St. Paul was the regular season pacemaker, but along came Kanss City to come out on top in a four-club playoff and eventually swamp the International league representative in the "Little World Series."

This year, however, the situation is reversed. Kansas City outclassed its field almost from the first day of the campaign, only to be knocked off by Indianapolis in the first round of a four-team playoff.

Johnny Bretzer's Outfit Breezes To Victory Over Iowans.

The Lincoln All-Stars, winner of the semi-pro tournament here late in August, measured the Southwest Iowa All-Stars, Council Bluffs tourney champs, by a 19-8 score Sunday at Council Bluffs. Second game will be played Tuesday night at Landis Field at 8:15, and the third, if necessary, next Sunday, with the site determined by a flip of a coin.

Pounded Out 23 Hits.

The Lincoln club battered Hertz and C. Carpenter for a total of 23 base hits, while the Iowans collected nine off Krenk, Dean and Gardner. Clyde Aukerman led the slugging with two triples and three singles in six trips to the plate, while Glenn George, Paul Nieman, "Buzz" Bauer and Al Bool each slammed three hits. The score:

WARD WEARS LINKS CROWN

Spokane Golfer Too Good For Billows In Finals of U. S. Amateur.

By TOM SILER.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18—(AP)—The national amateur golf title match all but shattered the faith of Ray Billows, 25-year-old Poughkeepsie, N. Y., golfer, in good luck charms. Billows had what he though was a good luck charm when he met Marvin (Bud) Ward, 26, of Spokane, Wash., in Saturday's championship battle, but it didn't help him much.

Charm Fails to Work.

Ward won the match and the title, 7 and 5, climaxing a week of brilliant play over the 7,022-yard North Shore Country club course.

So, after the match, Billows returned to Charlie Yates of Atlanta, Ga., the white linen cap he had worn as a charm. It was the same cap that Yates wore when he won the British amateur title in 1938, but it didn't seem to work for either of them here at North Shore.

Yates lost to Edwin Kingsley of Salt Lake City in the second round. Kingsley later fell before Ward, one of six victims of the long-knocking westerner who seemed to play best when the going was tough.

His Second Experience.

It was Billows' second trip through the tournament to the title round. Two years ago, the young printing and lithographing salesman fell in the finals before Johnny Goodman of Omaha, who also eliminated Ward in that tournament.

Both of these young fellows, who play golf for fun, planned to get back to work right away. Ward flew back to the Pacific coast and Billows went to Racine, Wis., his former home, to visit relatives until Wednesday, when he will return to Poughkeepsie.

Weekend Sports.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y.—Bobby Riggs routs 19-year-old Welby Van Horn, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4, to win national singles tennis championship; Alice Marble retains womens title with 6-0, 8-10, 6-4 victory over Helen Jacobs.

CHICAGO—Marvin (Bud) Ward wins national amateur golf crown, beating Ray Billows, 7 and 5 in 36-hole final.

HELSINSKI—Taisto Maki, Finland, runs six miles in 28:55.6 and 10,000 meters in 29:52.2 to break two world records.

GUAYAQUIL—Adolph Kiefer, Chicago, betters own world record for 50-meters backstroke swim with 29.9 seconds at Pan-American championships.

SAN JUAN, P. R.—Guayams, Puerto Rico champion, wins first semi-pro baseball world series, defeating Duncan, Okla., Cementers, 5-3 and 5-4, to take series, five games to three.

WASHINGTON—Detroit retains national amateur baseball federation title, defeating Birmingham, 14-12, in second and deciding game of playoff series.

CHICAGO—W. L. Brann's Challedon wins $15,000 added Hawthorne Gold Cup race by half length from Gridiron, with Chief Onaway third and Viscounty fourth in close finish.

Promoter Mike Looks Ahead to Intake of Half Million When Louis Faces Pastor.

By SID FEDER.

DETROIT, Sept. 18—(AP)—For one reason or another—either that Joe Louis is too top-heavy a favorite or Bob Pastor is too dangerous a question mark to fool around with—there wasn't enough betting today on Wednesday's heavyweight championship bout to cover a thin dime.

"Bet" Money In Hiding.

Whether this timidity was the fault of the odds-layer or the bettor, the "price" for the tussle was largely "rumor." It ranged, on the one hand, from the possibility that the former New York university footballer would be either one of the shortest-priced punchers ever to tangle with the brown bomber, to the other extreme which made Deadpan Joe a 1-to-8 shot to knock Bob's ears down sometime along the scheduled 20-round route.

In either case, the betting was about as active as a dish of cold tripe. The boys and girls were falling all over themselves keeping their "mad money" in their pocketbooks. The chances were that the champion, rated off his comparatively recent short and sweet sleep-producing victories over Max Schmeling, John Henry Lewis, Jack Roper and Tony Galento, would enter the ring at something better than 1 to 6 favorite over the one-time collegian who went 10 rounds with him back in '37.

Referee Still Unnamed.

Of more interest at the moment was the discussion over which of three refereeing possibilities would be the third man in the ring when the gong goes off at 9 p. m. (Lincoln time) Wednesday in Briggs stadium, with a crowd of some 50,000 sitting in on the party. Those mentioned most prominently are Slim McClelland, veteran of 32 years of ring "arbitrating;" Sam Hennessey, who has been doing the job for two decades, and Clarence Rosen, well-known here as a boxer and referee.

McClelland was the third man in Louis' victories over Natie Brown and Patsy Perroni, and, oddly enough, both of these bouts went the route. Hennessey knows the ring mannerisms of both fighters well. He worked most of Louis' amateur fights hereabouts and also took care of the more recent bout in which Bob Pastor soundly whipped Roscoe Toles to become an A-No. 1 drawing card in this city. Usually well informed fellows felt that Hennessey, acquainted with both principals, would be more likely to get the call.

Motor City Grabs Bait.

This motor city, incidently, has gone for the fight whole hog. Even Promoter Mike Jacobs was all around town distributing the "gleefulest" smiles about the parade to the box office. He said today his most conservative estimates but the probable gate at the $500,000 mark, with a crowd of 50,000 or more on hand for the festivities.

Pastor again took it easy today, while Louis got in his last training licks. Fully recovered from the cold which put him to bed with a temperature last Thursday and Friday, the champion boxed four rounds and then put his training togs back in the mothballs.

State athletic commission physicians examined both boxers and couldn't find anything wrong that a big steak dinner wouldn't cure. Louis expected to go into the ring at 200 or 201 pounds. Pastor, heavier than for his famous "Battle of the Bicycle" with Louis in Madison Square Garden, will weigh about 187.

Conn, Bettina Busy Prepping For Scrap

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 18—(AP)—Light-heavyweight Champion Billy Conn and Challenger Melio Bettina went into the home stretch of training today for their title bout here next Monday night. Several hundred spectators watched each work out yesterday at their respective camps.

Conn boxed seven rounds, and in a three-round shindig with his younger brother, Jackie, the latter wound up with a bloody nose. The champ is putting the accent on punching and is sharpening up his left.

Bettina, the former titleholder from Beacon, N. Y., is a picture of rugged health and determination. In his five rounds of boxing, he took on Bobby Millsap of New York, Babe Denning of Cleveland and three Pittsburgh boys.

Both fighters arranged another full workout today.

Husker... Review..

By DON KELLOGG.

INTO the second week of preseason practice drills went the Nebraska Cornhuskers at Memorial stadium Monday morning and they were right back at the chores this afternoon with promise of another scrimmage in sight before having a chance to get to the shower room...Guards George Abel and Arlo Klum, who suffered slight leg injuries last week that kept them out of the Saturday scrimmage, were back in the harness but still taking things easy...George Seeman, regular left end who is having trouble with his "trick" knee again, probably won't be ready until the middle of the week... Fred Preston, 6 foot, 4 inch ex-Fairbury high prepper, will get the call until that time.

THAT tackle worry: Final reports on the scholastic condition of Royal Kahler and Ralph Whitehead won't be forthcoming until Tuesday—both are taking their final examinations today... Considerable "switching" will have to be done to remedy the situation if the pair isn't able to get by the book work...The exceptionally hot weather was a handicap to the Huskers' training, but they came a long ways in the first week...Only 10 practice days remain before they entrain for the initial test against the Indiana Hoosiers...Thursday, Sept. 28, is the exact date the Husker special is scheduled to pull out.

GOING over last week's efforts: Backfield performances were nearly a replica of the spring drills...It was Harry Hopp, Hermie Rohrig, Vike Francis, "Butch" Luther and Bob DeFruiter who provided most of the fireworks...Wayne Blue also put on a fine show Saturday and the worry over filling the fullback post—with Francis, Blue and Henry Rohn fighting it out tooth and nail—has diminished somewhat...DeFruiter came through again with some of his "opportunist's" ability, which will look mighty good out there this fall if he keeps it up...Today's thought: Nebraska's opponents are going to get mighty tired of tackling Hopp and Rohrig this year...They actually bounce when they go down...Exclusive of scrimmage: Every time Walt Luther gets the ball, his hips just naturally take turns moving up and down...Just give him a broken field...Roy Petsch and "Bus" Knight having a battle royal for the starting quarterback assignment...For those who are wondering just how much Rohrig and Hopp will play this season, if they're going to work at the same position or if they'll both be in there at the same time—just keep on wondering...This big Grand Island boy, Bob Kahler, might come in for a lot of consideration too, before the schedule gets very far along.

ALL linemen are slated to get in a multitude of hard licks this coming week...At times the blocking and timing has clicked to perfection, but with only one week's practice, the general play can't be anything but ragged... Star gazing: Jack Ashburn to give Ray Prochaska a whale of a battle for the starting assignment at right end...Forrest Behm appears to have the right tackle spot nailed down, but a guess can hardly be ventured at the other side of the line until those exams are completed...Warren Alfson, who came up with some fine exhibitions last week, also may be at right guard when the team trots out in the opener...The left side job appears to be wide open ...Hub Monsky, Adna Dobson, Bill Hermann and Eddie Schwartzkopf are engaging in a bit of competition there...Take your choice between Bob Ramey and Bob Burruss at the pivot position and keep an eye peeled in the direction of young Freddie Meier at the same time.

BIG Six schedule: Iowa State jumps out ahead of the parade by inaugurating its season against Coe at Ames, Sept. 23... The Cyclones travel to Colorado for a contest with Denver U. the night of Sept. 29 and Kansas takes on the Drake Bulldogs at Des Moines the same night...Everybody else gets into the spirit of things the following day, when the Cornhuskers meet Indiana, Missouri entertains Colorado, Oklahoma plays host to Southern Methodist and Kansas State supposedly breathes easy with the Fort Hayes Teachers at Manhattan.

FOOTBALL DINNER FRIDAY AT U. CLUB

The University club's annual "kickoff" dinner will be held Friday evening, Sept. 22. Major L. M. "Biff" Jones, head football coach and athletic director at the University of Nebraska, and members of the Cornhusker coaching staff will be special guests of the club.

CYCLONES SET START SEASON

Iowa State Is First Big Six Team to Face Fire In Actual Game.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 18—(AP)—Iowa State, the surprise team of the Big Six conference last season, sends its football machine onto the gridiron next Saturday to see if the luck of 1938 ill carry through the 1939 campaign. Coe college, tutored by the veteran Moray Eby, has the distinction of being the first test for a conference eleven.

Cycloes Trim Reserves.

The Cyclone varsity, made up of numerous sophomores but leavened with just enough upperclassmen to make it a darkhorse, scored a 14 to 0 triumph over the reserves in a ragged contest Saturday to conclude the first week's drills.

Jim Brock pleased Coach Wes Fry of Kansas State with some vicious blocking during a three-hour workout which saw Elmer Hackney, in previous years a plunger exclusively, rifling the pigskin to Don Crumbaker.

After hearing President W. B. Bizzell exhort them to surpass the efforts of the undefeated 1938 aggregation, Coach Tom Stidham's Oklahoma charges ripped through two lengthy workouts. The Sooner frosh will make their debut this week disguised as the S. M. U. varsity—Oklahoma's foe on Sept. 30.

Coach Gwinn Henry of Kansas continued trying to find the four most effective backs in his collection of 20. The Jayhawks finished their first week of drills with the Dick Amerine, Milt Sullivant, Bill Bunsen and Frank Bukaty quarted streaming through the defense for numerous touchdowns.

The Missouri vasity romped over the frosh in their annual game Saturday, with Don Faurot using three full teams, but the Paul Christman-Jim Stramel aerial combination was in the contest long enough to score three times.

Leaders In A.A. Race Beaten In Playoffs

CHICAGO, Sept. 18—(AP)—Kansis City and Minneapolis ran away from the American association field in a season's span, but it required only five games for Indianapolis and Louisville to oust them from the Shaughnessy playoffs.

The two eastern division clubs each won their decisive triumphs yesterday—third-place Indianapolis over the pennant-winning Kansas City and fourth-place Louisville over runner-up Minneapolis.

The winners meet tonight at Indianapolis in the first game of the championship round, with the victor in the four-out-of-seven series qualifying to meet the International league playoff winner in the "Little World Series."

The first two games of the series will be played at Indianapolis, the next three at Louisville and the last two, if necessary, at Indianapolis.

Lincoln vs. Omaha In Final For Lawlor Cup

Leo Cassidy and Paul Guerin, Omaha Tennis club, eliminated Hastings from Lawlor cup play Sunday and will meet Lincoln, the cup holders, in the challenge round, probably next Sunday here. Cassidy beat Jim McClenahan, 6-0, 6-2, and Guerin beat Leon Davis, 6-2, 6-4. Johnny Huston and Harold Rundle will represent Lincoln in the challenge round.

Pioneers Golfers In Pow-wow Next Week

The advisory board of Pioneers Golf club for the 1940 season will be elected at a meeting at the city hall on Tuesday, Sept. 26. All muny golfers are invited to attend and cast their votes. Present board members are Lynn Crain, Jay Luse, Emil Frank, Henry Strauch, H. H. Herzog, Ed Erricksson and John Kissler.

Cincy's Pennant Path Made Smoother By Easy Contests On Card For This Week.

By JUDSON BAILEY.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—(AP)—Time is ticking away the chances of clubs chasing the Cincinnati Reds in the National league, and some of them must know by now how a clock sounds to the condemned. Every day unreeled from the senior circuit's crowded calendar in the last week has made Cincinnati's 3½ game lead look longer.

Week's Book Favors Reds.

Far from fading under the persistent pressure of the St. Louis Cardinals and the strain of three doubleheaders in four days, the Reds swung back into their best stride since July by winning seven of nine games.

Furthermore, the schedule this week gives them an opportunity to reinforce their position with 10 games against the Boston Bees, Philadelphia Phillies and Pittsburgh Pirates—the last three teams in the league and a class of opposition from which the Reds have won 41 games and lost only 12 this season.

In contrast, the Cardinals are carded for eight games with the New York Giants, Brooklyn Dodgers and Chicago Cubs—all dangerous. St. Louis won 29 and lost 25 against them earlier.

Cubs Fade Out.

The first club to feel the pinch of the constantly tightening finish was Chicago's defending champions, who have only 11 games to play and are 10 games behind. This was the standing today:

	Won	Lost	G. B.	To Play
Cincinnati	85	52	...	17
St. Louis	82	56	3½	*15
Chicago	78	65	10	11
Brooklyn	74	63	11	17

*One game with New York cancelled.

The Reds and Cards divided doubleheaders yesterday. Cincinnati sounded the theme for the day by making nine errors, but Paul Derringer overcame six of them in the first game to beat the Bees, 6-5, for his twenty-second victory and seventh straight. Boston took the nightcap, 5-3.

Hubbell Crimps Cardinals.

Carl Hubbell pitched the Giants to a 2-1 triumph over the Cards in the first game, but Fiddler Bill McGee reversed the tables in the second session with a four-hitter to win by the identical score.

The Brooklyn Dodgers swept two games from Chicago virtually to eliminate the Cubs from pennant contention. The Cubs made three boners in the first game and lost, 10-4, then fell helpless, 3-2, before Luke Hamlin's five-hit flinging in the second.

The Pirates committed eight errors in their first game to collapse, 7-3, before the Phillies, but grabbed the second installment, 10-1, on Bob Klinger's four-hit pitching and a 17-hit offensive, led by Arky Vaughan and Paul Waner.

The Yankees relaxed, having clinched their fourth consecutive American league championship Saturday and dropped a double bill to the St. Louis Browns, 8-4 and 3-1, as the tailenders gave a disrespectful salute to Red Ruffing and Lefty Gomez, New York's aces.

Five errors by the Cleveland Indians helped the Philadelphia Athletics beat Bob Feller, 4-2, but the A's made four blunders themselves as the Indians staged a 17-hit uprising to take the nightcap, 18-5.

Thornton Lee's southpaw slants stymied the Boston Red Sox on three hits as the Chicago White Sox opened with a 6-1 victory, but Boston retaliated with an 11-7 conquest in the second.

Hank Greenberg's homer in the eleventh inning decided Detroit's single game with the Washington Senators, 3-2.

PLATTERS HAD TIGHT SQUEEZE

Last Year's No. 2 Team Hard Pressed to Win From Imperial.

By ALEX STODDARD.

The big talk from out North Platte way about the capabilities of the 1939 North Platte high school team partially was silenced last week-end when Imperial high, a team beaten 55-0 last year, held the favored Platters to a 19-6 victory.

Result Not In Doubt.

North Platte never was in any danger of losing the ball game, but Imperial's game stand kept the Bulldog offense from functioning too well. Unless the North Platte team picks up steam as the season progresses, it is possible the Platters may skid from their No. 2 ranking in state-wide competition achieved last year.

Plattsmouth opened the season with a 25-0 win over Weeping Water to average a 1934 defeat. Carol Gast's Blair high school veteran team stormed through Decatur, 26-0, in a Coanhusker conference game.

Few Games Last Week.

Walthill edged ahead of Lyons by a single touchdown, 6-0, while Republican City upset Ed Uptegrove's favored Alma club, 12-7. Seward spilled Ulysses, 19-6, and Creighton Prep "B" team edged Tekamah, 7-6.

Only a skeleton schedule was played last week, a majority of the teams waiting until this week-end or even another seven days to go into action.

Andy Cohen, former Giant second-baseman, is now managing Dayton in the Middle Atlantic league.

Stock Market Prices Topple 1 To Around 7 Points

Exchange Suffers A "Peace Fright"

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—(AP)—The stock market suffered a peace fright" today and leading stocks toppled 1 to around 7 points, the worst setback since the start of the war boom nearly three weeks ago.

Selling was fast in the first hour, slowed down on intermediate recovery periods, and picked up again just before the finiss when the ticker tape got behind. Closing prices were about the lows of the day.

Steels led the forenoon retreat, but these received a little aid later when the Omerican Iron & Steel institute announced mill operations this week would be up 9.1 points at 79.3 per cent of capacity, highest level in more than 2 years. t was a bit better increase than had been looked for in some quarters.

Touching off the initial back-slide in stocks, brokers said, was Wall Street's somewhat gloomier view of Euroepan happenings over the week-end, including the sweeping Russian invasion of Poland, the seeming collapse of the Poles in tehir conflict with the nazis, sinking of a large British airplane carrier and signs the Germans were stiffening resistance on the western front. From all this, speculative forces began to think an armistice proposal by Hitler or Mussilini, or even Stalin, might be in the offing. Consequently, those who had been betting on a long conflict, with big profits reverting to American companies from foreign purohaing, hurried to lighten commitments.

Part of the early selling was blamed on the belief of some financial circles that one of the most spectacular rallies in the market's history called for a sizable" correction,' even if the run-up eventually is resumed. Possibility of a forthcoming bitter congressional battle on the neutrality law also was seen as a restraining influence.

Transfers approximated 1,800,000 shares. Conspicuous stock losers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Anaconda nternational Nickel, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Standard Oil of N. J., Western Union, J. I. Case, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, Allied Chemical, Glenn Martin, Montgomery and American Telephone.

Rails held fairly well throughout as Chairman Jesse Jones of the RFC forecast big carrier equipment demand and this week's freight loadings we.e expected to advance to a new year's peak. Utilities, too, were resistant.

Foreign dollar bonds weakened, but corporate issues and U. S. governments were less depressed than stocks. Securities at Amsterdam went into a slump. Commodities took the downward path. Wheat at Chicago was off 1½ to 2 cents a bushel and corn lost 1 to 1⅜. Cotton, in late transactions, was 40 to 80 cents a bale under water.

Off 1 to 4 in the curb were Aluminum of America, Aluminum Ltd., Lockneed, Gulf Oil, Jones & Laughlin and Niles-Bement-Pond.

The vulnerability of a number of the late so-called "war babies" was shown at the beginning of dealings on the "big board" when the getting together of buyers and sellers was sufficiently difficult to cause late openings for such issues as U. S. Steel and Betnlehem. The former came out after a 10-minute delay on a tranfer of 10,000 shares, off 4⅞ at 72. The latter followed "Big Steel" with a block of 4,000 shares, off 4¼ at 86½. Douglas Aircraft got away at 69, off 6.

The domestic business picture was still encouraging to financial quarters, and some advanced the idea that, with either a lengthy war or a nearby peace, reasons for a further upturn in this country were plentiful.

That some industrial staple prices may have been jumping too speedily, though, was indicated by a cut in the scrap copper quotation of ¼ cent a pound.

On the hopeful side were reports of a favorable demand for new automobile models. announcement lumber orders were continuing to step ahead of output, the award by the maritime commission of contracts for five more cargo ships, and cheering estimates of earnings for the important chemical companies.

Chicago Wheat Prices Decline

CHICAGO, Sept. 18—(AP)—Wheat prices slumped as much as 2½ cents a bushel today but then rallied almost a cent.

Corn and other grains also were lower.

Selling was stimulated by weakness in securities, sharply reduced world grain exports because of the war, and uncertainty regarding European affairs due to Russian intervention. The price of wheat was about 16 cents higher than on August 31 but almost 5 cents below the war boom peak.

Wheat closed 1½ to 2 cents lower than Saturday, December 85@85⅛c, May 86@86⅛c; corn 1 to 1⅜c down, December 55⅞@56c, May 58¾@58⅞c; oats ⅜ to 1 cent lower.

Wheat prices declined more than a cent today with December and May contracts leading the downturn.

Selling of commercial interests who were hedging against purchases of grain, together with some profit-taking, accounted for most of the market activity. Trade was not large, however, wtih most dealers somewhat confused by war and political developments in Europe.

Weakness in securities added to the bearishness but the policy of mot traders was one of watchful waiting. Although some rains were reported in the domestic southwest, the moisture was only light, and scattered, and crop expers pointed out that good rains were urgently needed.

Action of the Canadian government in forming the foreign exchange board tended to restrict operations between Chicago and Winnipeg, which normally account for a large portion of the trade. Many traders were limiting orders between the two markets until the new Canadian regulations are clarified.

The largest corn receipts here in a year had a bearish effect on the corn market. Arrivals totaled 1,343 cars, much of which, traders said, represented loan corn being put under seal here. Receipts also included a large volume of corn purchased to arrive last week as well as "free" corn being moved from farms to make room for the new crop.

Corn prices were off about 1½ cent at one time. Oats and rye also declined about a cent.

Lard weakened in sympathy with grains, ignoring the stronger hog market.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—(AP)—Sharp losses in a group of foreign dollar bonds combined with moderate declines in U. S. government and corporate obligations to give the listed market an all-round lower appearance today.

On sales generally of only one or two bonds, losses of from 5 to 25 points were posted for Prague 7½s, Czechoslovakia 8s, Denmark 6s, Estonia Republic 7s, Norway 4½s, Queensland 7s, and New South Wales 5s. Toward the final hour Poland 6s were down nearly 20 points and the 7s and two 4½ per cent issues dropped 5 to 9. On the other hand, German government loans were up fractions to more than a point.

Corporate loans losing fractions to 2 or more included International Telephone 5s, Continental Oil 2¾s, American & Foreign Power 5s and Cuban Northern Railway 5½s.

U. S. governments were down 2-32 to 23-32 with trading light.

Foreign Exchange

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—(AP)—

The free" rate for British sterling continued to fluctuate erratically in foreign exchange dealings today.

At $3.81,the cable rate was off seven cents at noon from Saturday's close. This was well above the low of $3 73 reached last week, but considerably under the official rate of 4.03 dollars to the pound in London.

Under the new rigid cotrols announced by the Dominion last week, the Canadian dollar held at 90 cents. The French franc, at 2.18 cents, was off only .01 of a cent. The Netherlansd rates was .05 of a cent lower at 53.15 cents.

Scandinavian currencies, no longer hitched to the pound, were a little firmer, as were Belgian and Swiss units. The Argentine free rate rose ½ cent to 23½ cents. Shanghai and Hongkong rates sagged.

Noon rates follow: Great Britain in dollars, others in cents. Great Britain, demand 3 80; Great Britain, cables 3.81; 60 day bills 3.79; 90 day bills 3.78; Canada, Montreal in New York, 90.00; Canada, New York in Montreal 110.00; Belgium 17.12; Denmark 19 35; Finland, 2.03; France 2.18; Germany unquoted, benevolent 18.75, travel unquoted; Greece. 78n; Hungary 19.50n; taly 5 18; Netherland 53.15; Norway 22.75; Poland 18.80n; Portugal 3.70n; Rumania .70n; Sweden 23.85; Switzerland 22.68; Argentina (official), unquoted; Argentina (free), 23 50; Brazil (official), 6.05; Brazil (free), 5.00; Mexico 19.00; Japan 23 35n; Hongkong 24.30; Shanghai 6.80; Yugoslavia 2 28n.

GRAIN NOTES

CHICAGO, Sept. 18—(AP)—Partly as a result of the government loan, receipts of corn at 12 primary interior terminals in the grain belt have totaled only 165,498,000 bushels since Nov. 1, compared with 294,549,000 the corresponding period last season. Corn marketings have shown a substantial increase in the past week, however, as the harvest of the new crop approaches.

The loan also had some effect in reducing wheat receipts at primary markets since July 1 although this year's crop was smaller than last year. Wheat receipts have totaled 166,420,000 bushels compared with 181,957,000 a year ago and 197,585,000 two years ago.

If dry, warm weather persists, most of the corn crop is expected to be safe from frost damage within the next week or 10 days Cutting may start unusually early this season in the main belt but the movement of new grain is not expected to reach a peak until late October or early November.

New York Sugar

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—(AP)—World sugar futures declined today after early firmness. In late afternoon prices were 6½ to 7½ points lower. Professional selling and Wall street liquidation found demand limited March sold at 2.11½.

Domestic contracts were off 4 to 5 points under general liquidation. The March position sold at 2.35.

The raw market was quiet so far as spot business was concerned. One sale of 4,600 tons of Porto Ricos for late November shipment was reported at 3.70 cents. Cuban raws remained unquoted. Refined was unchanged to 5.75 cents.

Futures No. 3 closed 5-7 lower; sales 16,600 tons. Close: Jan., 2.25b; March, 2.33b; May, 2.38b.

New York Cotton

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—(AP)—The cotton market showed losses of 5 to 12 points in late afternoon mainly as a result of New Orleans and hedge selling.

A large part of the selling was believed inspired by Russia's action over the week-end and the easiness in securities and other commodities. There was some Bombay and foreign selling early, but this was offset by a fair amount of foreign and domestic trade price fixing. October at 9.00 was off 10, December down 5 at 8.80 and May at 8.31 was off 12.

New York Bar Silver

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—(AP)—

STEEL OPERATIONS

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—(AP)—Operations in the steel industry for the current week will advance 9.1 points to 79.3 per cent of capacity, highest since Sept. 13, 1937, the American Iron & Steel institute estimated today. Last week's figure was 70 2 per cent of capacity.

A month ago operations were at the rate of 62.2 per cent while a year ago they were 47.3 per cent.

The somewhat better than expected increase in production this week follows the rousing jump in the preceding week when operations were stepped up 11.6 per cent. In the latter case, however, steel circles pointed out the big jump was partly os a result of adjustments incident to the closing down for Lobor day on Sept. 4.

Peace At This Time Perilous

OMAHA, Sept. 18—(AP)—Dr. Jerome G. Kerwin, associate professor of political science at the University of Chicago, asserted in an interview here today "the gravest danger in the present war situation is the possibility of peace, concluded after Germany and Russia have partitioned Poland."

Peace at this time, he declared "would enhance tremendously the prestige of the totalitarian states. The small neutral nations would have to look to the fascists for guidance and Britain and France would have to go partly totalitarian in order to cope with the internal situation created in their countries."

"The United States would have to fight the fascist trend within our borders, and I have heard it said that we might well have to adopt some of the totalitarian principles in order to cope with the situation."

"Boy—How we will get it if Europe goes totalitarian."

Dr. Kerwin will lecture at the institute of government opening Monday at the University of Omaha.

Some Fun, Huh?

Cop, Not Friend, Trails Speeder On Motorcycle

Imagine the surprise of Clyde Preston, 6508 Leighton, Sunday night when he discovered a supposed "friend" on a motorcycle was Officer Mark Leininger, who turned out to be not so friendly. Preston driving a car, and a friend Bill Cook, 2110 North Twenty-seventh, mounted on a motorcycle, were speeding down O street, when they chanced to pass Leininger who was parked at Twenty-first and O.

The officer gave chase and soon halted Cook. Next he set sail after Preston, who apparently thought it good sport as he yelled out to the motorcyclist, "Come on, Come on." It was an unnecessary invitation for Leininger had already decided to come on, and did. After learning the identity of his pursuer, Preston was presented with a ticket to appear in court next Friday morning and tell it to the judge.

Dr. Jenness read a paper at the recent annual meeting of the American Psychological association at Stanford university. His presentation was a summary of a method of measuring and evaluating cultural behavior.

Dr. Jenness will teach classes this fall in abnormal and elementary psychology and social behavior. He will also resume his duties as special adviser to freshmen in the college of arts and sciences.

Bergdoll Courtmartial Delayed Until Sept. 27

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—(AP)—The courtmartial of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, World war draft dodger, was today adjourned until Sept. 27.

The delay was announced shortly after the court convened on Governors island.

The adjournment was requested by Maj. George A. Hadd, military counsel for Bergdoll, who explained that since the charges of conspiracy to desert and desertion had been drawn up, he had not had time to prepare an adequate defense.

Lady Vestey Hopes United States Will Repeal Its Embargo On Arms

Lady Vestey of London, Eng., who was formerly Evelyn Brodstone of Superior, predicted in a letter to the Nebraska State Historical Society Monday that "the British will not stop now that they are started" in the European war.

"I am only sorry," she wrote, "the U. S. laws now prevent war supplies coming to France and England. Neutrality is all right, but in this case it is helping Hitler, not civilization.

"I only wish we could send Hitler to Nebraska to be dealt with as early pioneers dealt with wrong-doers," she continued, "although I can think of no punishment that would be suitable for him. I think people of the next century will never understand how one man was able to make his evil influence so powerful that the whole world was affected. It sometimes makes me wonder if I am sane or having a nightmare."

Sheldon Prophecies.

Meanwhile, Dr. A. E. Sheldon, superintendent of the society, foresaw two principal developments in Russia's participation in the struggle:

1. The beginning of an era in which the United States will take the lead as the power of the English speaking people of the world.

2. The beginning of an era in which Russia will dominate the rest of the world.

Dr. Sheldon also predicted that England and France would have to make an "unsatisfactory" peace agreement with Germany and Russia when Poland and perhaps many of its neighbors have been gobbled up by Germany and Russia.

REBECCAS OF ERSKINE

When the big sister of Rebecca Simpson, Whitmire, S. C., graduated from Erskine college last semester, she applied for a room for Rebecca, who meant to enter Erskine this fall.

Strange as it seems the registrar informed the girl the room was "already reserved for Rebecca Simpson." It turned out that another girl by this name, from Huntersville, N. C., had by strange coincidence applied for the same room. This fall the two Rebecca Simpsons are roommates and fast friends.

Lincoln Man Forecast Accurately German-Russ Division Of Poland

Letter From Dan Fahrenbruch Received By Wife Was Written Before The War

Interesting pre-war predictions on the tense European situation—some of which already been realized—were contained in a communication received by Mrs. Dan Fahrenbruch, 830 Rose street, from her husband, a university student, now somewhere abroad.

In an uncensored letter mailed from East Prussia a week before the war was declared, Mr. Fahrenbruch related vividly his experiences in crossing the Corridor, and other happenings.

He wrote: "From all that can be seen and heard, Germany really is serious; there is to be more forthcoming in the present crisis than just the Corridor and Danzig—a good slice of Poland—even talk by army men of complete dissolution of Poland—and a fine complete division of the nation between Russia, the new ally, and Germany, with possibly a chunk going to Rumania. . . ."

He explained that from Berlin to the Corridor the main railroad and all roads were guarded, with roof tops and box cars being well provided with anti-aircraft and machine guns. There were two or three rows of machine gun nests between the railroad stations—with the woods and thickets hiding many men and field units.

Saw Troop Movements

He told, too, of the breathtaking spectacle of seeing a five mile procession of battalions of reserve units on march to the Corridor line. "The equipment is all new—guns, saddlery, boots and packs—only a few wagons of the old type. They are those taken from Czechs'," he wrote.

One place in his letter he told of going to the U. S. consul general in Berlin, where he was told to leave immediately for Southampton, England. "I decided to stay and go through the area; nothing will happen," he wrote, adding "England is wanting Poland to negotiate; Russia neutral; Rumania neutral; French will be stymied on the west front; Belgium and Holland are neutral or at least no great trouble. Germany will do no more than necessary—do it the easiest way."

Of his ride through the Corridor, Fahrenbruch wrote that the Poles were guarding each station and bridges with machine guns and rifles. "No air units or artillery seen. On German soil: Berlin to border were plenty of units, pill boxes, machine gun nests, roof guards at each station, anti-aircraft guns well camouflaged. The ride through the Corridor was uneventful; only difference was that conduct of train was in hands of Poles. Germans have to sit back as passengers."

One of the objects of his trip through the troubled area was to attend the celebration at Tannenberg on Sept. 1, where 25 years before a memorable battle was fought. Hitler called the celebration off and several thousand persons who were arriving for the affair were cut off from a Corridor return. Traveling with a group of American World war veterans from Chicago, Fahrenbruch stated that his bus took precedence over all except the army.

He left the Corridor by way of Konigsberg, and thence to Pillau—where hundreds took up temporary quarters on lawns, parking on their baggage and coats. So far plans for his return home have not been learned.

Call Conference On Cause, Cure of Wars

OMAHA, Sept. 18—(AP)—The fourth Nebraska conference on the cause and cure of war will be held at the University of Omaha Tuesday. Miss Gertrude F. Eaton, chairman of the Nebraska committee on the cause and cure of war, announced speakers during the morning session include Rabbi aDvid Wice of Omaha, and Leon Thompson of Lincoln, executive secretary, Nebraska peace council.

Addresses in the afternoon session will be given by Mrs. Roy Marshall, director of international relations of the Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs; Mrs. Edward R. Kirkpatrick, Omaha, chairman, Marathon Round Tables and Dr. Lyman Harris, history professor of the University of Omaha.

Delegates also will attend the midwest institute of government, which is being held at the University of Omaha Monday through Friday.

NAZI BOMBS WRECK APARTMENT BLOCK IN WARSAW

This is the wreckage of a block of apartment flats in a suburb of Warsaw which was destroyed, according to official Polish sources, by high explosive bombs dropped by nazi air raiders.

Student Flier Passes "Test" Flight Day After Crack-up

Custom was followed at the government flying school here Sunday morning when Frank Schirmer, 26, who "cracked up" Saturday, performed a successful test flight. He had escaped with a slight nose injury when the plane he was flying crashed in a forced landing near Raymond 24 hours earlier.

Schirmer, an advanced student, was doing routine stunting when the motor of his plane stalled. He was forced to land in a rough pasture, and the ship "pancaked."

It was reported that the student was pulling out of a "slow roll" when the engine quit. He was approximately 3,000 feet in the air at the time, flying a 200 hoursepower Stearman P. T. 13.

Schirmer, a mechanical engineering graduate of Ohio State university, is from Springfield, Ohio. E. J. Sias said the plane was badly damaged.

Man Who Saw Lincoln Assassinated Is Buried In Nebraska Cemetery

PRECEPT, Neb., Sept. 18 — (AP)—Funeral services were held here Sunday afternoon for Samuel Charles Phenice, 95, a Civil war veteran who was on guard duty at Ford's theater the night President Lincoln was assassinated.

Phenice, who formerly lived at Beaver City, near here, died Friday at Almena, Kas., where he had been living with his daughters, Mrs. Frank Cozad and Mrs. Charles Quillen.

Believed one of the last living persons who saw John Wilkes Booth leap into the president's box and fire at him, Phenice, often recalled the wild scenes in the theater after the shooting.

He said he saw Booth rush from the theater and aided in his pursuit.

Phenice was wounded in the battle of the Wilderness and after he was released from the hospital, was assigned to the ninth division of the veterans' reserve corps. He was on duty examining soldiers' passes the night of April 14, 1865, when the shooting occurred.

Phenice was the last member of the G. A. R. here. Last year he and his daughter, Mrs. Quillen, attended the reunion of Civil war veterans at Gettysburg.

His wife died in 1916.

FIND POTATO CROP SEVERELY DAMAGED

ALLIANCE, Neb., Sept. 18 — (AP)—September drouth almost finished the dryland potato crop in this area, farm observers reported today. Insects damaged much of the crop severely early in the summer, the Nebraska Certified Potato Growers association reported, then the late drouth virtually completed the ruin of what was at first a promising crop. Spud harvesting in this area is expected to start next week.

Vets Plan A March On Washington to Protest Neutrality Law Change

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—(AP)—Edward James Smythe, national commander of the Protestant War Veterans of the United States, began organizing veterans today for a "march" on Washington to protest any change in the neutrality law.

Smythe said he received a telegram from the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin of Detroit yesterday urging the "organization of an army of peace." Today he set up field headquarters in an uptown dance hail and said he expected at least 10,000 veterans from the east would join him.

Smythe also said he had communicated with his representatives in Boston to arrange for a contingent from that city. The New York veterans, Smith said, would be joined by those from Boston on Wednesday night and all would leave here by bus and private car Thursday morning.

Frank Nye, Lincoln Salesman, May Seek Governorship On A "Stop The Drouth" Platform

Frank Nye, 1035 J street, Lincoln traveling salesman, told newspapermen today he may seek the democratic nomination for governor on a "stop the drouth" platform.

Blaming the drouth on dehydration of "nature's air conditioning," the potential candidate suggests Nebraska sponsor water conservation projects "and cooperate with the several states and United States on all conservation programs."

For example, he said, highway construction must be changed from a "rapid drainage to a water conservation system," so that thousands of ponds and lakes would be formed.

Nye, former Kearney resident and a cousin of former assistant attorney general Barlow Nye, said he will "await reaction" before actually filing for governor.

Terry Carpenter, Scottsbluff, is the only democrat to have filed for governor to date.

"Flood control, river straightening and highway constructions drain rapidly the water sheds of the Mississippi river and its tributaries," Nye declared. Marshes, swamps, lagoons and sloughs comprising millions of acres of evaporation surfaces have been drained and the attendant vegetation dried up. About one-fourth of the wheat belt is summer fallowed and dry as the Sahara desert. Nature's air conditioning system has been dehydrated."

Nye proposes to use stat highway machinery and employes to construct check dams.

Postoffice Boosting "Air Progress" Week

The postoffice is co-operating with the chamber of commerce in observance of National Air Progress week, posting the trucks and bulletin boards with notices of air mail service. Ken Ott is chairman of the committee of the chamber in charge of the observance. Air mailing in Lincoln continues to increase, despite only one plane a day each way. In August, 1,131 pounds of air mail left Lincoln, although 874 pounds had to be sent to Omaha by train.

Miss Ekblad To Study At Library College

Miss Lillian Ekblad, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Ekblad, who is a member of the staff of Lincoln city library, has been granted a year's leave of absence for the purpose of studying library science. She has selected the library college of the University of Illinois for this study, and left yesterday for Urbana, Ill. for a year's stay at this institution. Miss Ekblad is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, where she received both the A. B. and A. M. degrees.

Eastern Nebraska Elks Officers Confer Here

Officers of the Nebraska Elks association as well as officers of the lodges in the eastern Nebraska district, met Sunday at the Lincoln lodge rooms to discuss the order's activities for the coming year. District Deputy to the Grand Exalted Ruler, Frank Rain, of Fairbury, headed the list of speakers on the program. The meeting was presided over by Telfer C. Lord, of York, president of the state association. More than 40 persons attended.

Bids Called On Big Paving Job

$26,000 Project Planned In "Village;" More Car Rails To Be Removed

The calling of bids on the largest single paving district created in Lincoln since 1927, was authorized by the city council Monday on plans submitted by the city engineer. The estimated cost is $26,000.

Bids also were ordered called on the removal of streetcar rails in several sections of the city at an estimated cost of $6,300, plus necessary WPA labor expenses for the employment of 130 men one month.

The paving district includes all of Colonial Village, and other streets, nearby. They are new Summit from Puritan avenue to Van Dorn street; Puritan from Rathbone road to Colonial drive; Mayflower avenue from Summit to Colonial drive; Ash street from Summit to Colonial drive; and Colonial drive from Puritan to Ash.

Also included in the calls for bids will be proposals for laying a water main in the Colonial Village and other adjoining territory. The estimate on this project is $7,000.

Track Removal.

Agreements providing for the cost of the car track removals provide for payment of $5,627 by the Traction Co., which is permitted to salvage rails and brick between rails. The places where the tracks will be taken out:

Ninth street, P to R; Fourteenth street from H to G and F to C street; intersection a Tweny-eighh and Sumner streets; Sumner from Twenty-seventh to Twenty-eighth; Thirtieth from R to S, and S from Thirtieth to Thirty-fourth.

The council authorized the purchase of a small tract of ground adjoining the paving repair and sewer departments shops. Needed to permit expansion of paving repair activities which have grown beyond present limitations, the cost will be $500. The property is between Fourteenth and Sixteenth streets, near W.

An ordinance read a first time creates a paving district in G street from First street to West Second street. Weed-culting assessments against 1,094 lots, totaling $1,805, were approved by the council and ordered levied against the properties, after advertised by the clerk.

A contract to furnish a coupe for the water department, was awarded to O'Shea Rogers Motor Co., on that firm's bid opened Monday morning, of $620. Other bids were Earl Hamilton Motor Co., $640; and White Motor Co., $650.

City Council

Claim was filed Monday with the city council for $4,000, by Frank H. Copley, attorney for Alex Birdilis, with the warning that unless satisfactory settlement is made, suit to recover the amount will be started in iDstrict court. Birbilis alleges in the claim that he received serious injuries in a fall on the sidewalk near 1412 O street on April 27, last.

Ordinances on third reading provide for the vacation of two alleys. One is between Dakota and Sioux, and a short distance east from Sixteenth street. The other is between Twenty-ninth and Thirty-first and Holdrege and Clinton streets.

A hearing on the application by John Ostermiller for a beef license at 136 North Fourteenth street, was to be heard. October 9, was to be fixed as the date for a hearing on an application for a beer license at the DeLuz beer parlor, 314 South Thirteenth street. The application is in the names of George Derksen, jr., and Fred Hergenrader.

Few Changes In Lincoln Pulpits

Rev. Aitken Begins His 20th Year; Minor Shifts Made

As a result of official assignment of pastors by the Nebraska conference of the Methodist church, Lincoln Methodist churchgoers will see a few changes.

Rev Aitken

At the Asbury church in West Lincoln, Esther Yough will have the pastorate and Rev. E. E. Lewis of Pleasant Dale will fill in at the Lincoln Heights church, succeeding Rev. Clarence W. Smith, who will study at the Boston University Theological school.

Rev. J. R. Hamilton, pastor of the Second church, will also fill the pulpit at the Wesley Methodist church.

Among the Lincoln Methodist pastors, Rev. Walter Aitken is still the dean beginning his 20th year at the St. Paul church.

The others renamed, their hurches and number of years are as follows:

Bryan Memorial, J. W. Henderson, four; Elm Park, S. B. Thomas, three; Emmanuel, Atwood Bird, two; Epworth, L. A. Moore, two; First, H. O. Martin, seven; Grace, E. Lamont Geissinger, four; Havelock, G. A. Moon, three; Hawthorne, Kenneth L. Downing, three; Lakeview, Mrs. Naida Axford, two; Second, J. R. Hamilton, three; St. James, Kenneth Nye, two; Trinity, Floyd L. Blewfield, six; and Warren, W. L. Ruyle, two.

Break-in Reported—The Burgess Brass Foundry at 229 South Ninth told police that 10 pounds of lead and 58 cents were stolen over the week-end by someone who entered the place through a skylight.

State Auto NRA Rapped In Brief

Omaha Dealer Says Law Detriment To Public, In High Court Case

Andrew C. Nelsen, Omaha automobile dealer who has launched an attack in the Supreme court against the 1937 auto dealers' "little NRA," took issue in written arguments Monday with a brief submitted to the court recently by the state motor vehicle dealers' board through its titular head, State Engineer A. C. Tilley.

Recalling that Tilley's brief compared the motor dealers' act to other state laws, like the Blue Sky measures, which were enacted "to protect the public," Nelsen's attorneys charged:

"The courts have never approved a law to insure the financial success of 1,200 or 1,300 dealers and 14 manufacturers to the detriment of 1,364,000 inhabitants of a state. Cleared of all verbiage, the defendant's (Tilley's) position is one that has never been sustained by any court."

Meanwhile, the auto board Monday began hearing a complaint brought by Theodore Sayers of Omaha against the Jack Lincoln Motor company, Omaha, charging misrepresentation of a used car sold.

Slated for informal hearing and discussion Tuesday are several items of business including an informal complaint against the O'Shea Rogers Motor company of Lincoln for allegedly handling a used car registration improperly.
